18 GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK AS BATTLES RAGE OFF NORWAY

COUNTY'S TAX RECEIPTS NEAR 6-YEAR PEAK

Collections for Half Period Total $606,000 at Present Time, Kolb Reveals.

PAYMENTS MADE STEADILY

Delinquency Reductions Are Big Factor in Boosting Revenue Figures.

Reflecting a marked improvement in business and industry in the Mansfield area, county real estate tax collections for the first half of the year were headed for a six-year high today at the close of the regular payment period.

Receipts today amounted to $606,000, more than the regular collection has produced for a half-year period in recent years.

That figure does not include most of the mail receipts and funds collected by special agents of County Treasurer John E. Kolb in Shelby and Bellville. They are expected to add at least $50,000 to the total.

At the close of the first-half collection in 1939 receipts were below $600,000, but late returns boosted the total to $640,000 by early summer. Back in 1934, the collections amounted to $694,000.

Property owners began paying their taxes early in the year and payments have been steady since then, Kolb said.

"We really had no rush day even at the last, and payments this time were the steadiest all the way through that I can remember," Kolb said.

The treasurer's office yesterday collected $50,600 on the final day of the penalty-free period. Receipts for the three days this week amounted to more than $150,000.

One of the factors contributing to the good showing this year, the treasurer believes, was the payment of delinquent taxes by a number of property owners who had been unable to pay until now. Delinquent taxes and current receipts are included in the collection figures.

In contrast to the unusual real estate collection, personal tax receipts are lagging behind last year's figures. The treasurer had collected $95,996 today in personal taxes, about $5,000 less than in the first-half period last year.

Second Charge of Assault Reopens Butler Dispute

A dispute at Butler involving three village school officials which apparently was settled Monday came back into court today when L. L. Miller, a baker in the village, filed a new assault and battery charge against Robert Burgett, Butler high school coach.

After dismissing similar charges against Burgett, Supt. Willard Weekley of Butler schools, and Walter Wareham, member of the board of education, Miller singled out Burgett today in the new charge filed in municipal court here. The others were filed in Mayor Russell Strong's court at Butler.

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch set the case for hearing at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Miller accused Burgett of assaulting him March 27 at Wareham's home after Miller went there allegedly to arrange a "hearing" with school officials about reports that Miller had been circulating rumors about them.

Burgett admitted striking Miller, but he said he had to do so in self defense after Miller struck at him with his fist. Burgett contended that the arrest of the three school men was "an attempt to frame Supt. Weekley by a small group that formerly controlled the school."

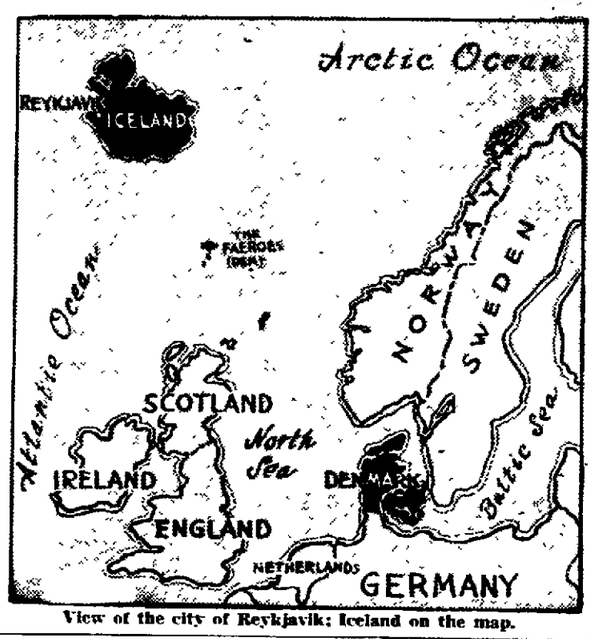
CHILLICOTHE—(AP)—"Bounced out" of a local tavern, Fred Shewalter, 57, died of a skull fracture. Today a bartender, Fred Schenkle, 35, faced a manslaughter charge filed by Police Chief Russell Poole.

Nazi Troops Occupy Bridgehead In First Photo of Invasion

German troops are shown as they occupied an unidentified Danish bridgehead in this first radiophoto of the German expeditionary force as it pushed its invasion of Scandinavia. The Nazi censor who passed the picture did not reveal the exact location of the bridgehead, saying only that it was "somewhere in Denmark." Such scenes have occurred throughout Denmark.

Iceland Secedes as Result of German Invasion

HERMAN JONASSEN



View of the city of Reykjavik; Iceland on the map.

As a result of the Nazi invasion of Denmark, Iceland, an independent country but under the personal sovereignty of the king of Denmark, has announced it will "secede" from the mother country since the king of Denmark has been deprived of his royal power over the country. Iceland's premier is Herman Jonassen, who will take over control of government. Iceland is an island of 40,000 square miles. The population is less than 100,000.

Late War Flashes

BERLIN —(INS)— The German government announced today that the luxury liner Bremen, reported by the British press to have been torpedoed, is safe at some undisclosed port.

WASHINGTON —(U P)— The state department today arranged for evaculation of all Americans in the Scandinavian countries who desire to come home.

BERLIN—(AP)—DNB, official German news agency, reported in a special bulletin today that the German army at Bergen, Norway, had confiscated five British steamers loaded to capacity with cannon, machine guns, munitions and other war materials.

HONOLULU, T. H. —(INS)— A detachment of British soldiers has been stationed on Fanning Island a British possession in the Equatorial Pacific, presumably to prevent German seizure of the island, according to information from the American cable ship Dickinson. During the World war Fanning Island was raided by a German force.

BERLIN—(AP)—German troops who occupied Oslo were said today to have stumbled upon 50 new American Curtiss planes and were thought thereby to have opened the door to many up-to-date American military secrets. The shipment of planes, informed quarters said, arrived in Oslo only a week ago.

BERLIN —(INS)—Gerald Romilly, nephew of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and correspondent for a London newspaper, has been arrested by the German troops which captured Narvik, DNB, official German news agency stated today.

REPORT REDS MASS TROOPS NEAR ODESSA

Russians Reinforce Army Near Rumanian Border of Oil Rich Bessarabia.

BUCHAREST SAVES STORES

Embargo Placed on Sunflower Seeds Replacing Nazi Fat Deficiency.

(By Associated Press)

BUCHAREST — Large numbers of Soviet Russian troop reinforcements were reported today to have moved into the Odessa region from the north. Odessa, on the Black Sea, lies about 25 miles from the Rumanian Bessarabia border.

The reports, reaching this capital from the frontier region could not be confirmed on this side of the border.

(Russia lost Bessarabia to Rumania in the post-World war territorial changes and has never renounced her claim to it.)

Meanwhile the Rumanian government issued a decree that all national defense factories must immediately store supplies for use in case of general mobilization.

15-Day Supply.

Supplies must be sufficient for 15 days, the decree said.

At the same time an embargo was put on export of sunflower seeds to Germany, which previously has bought almost the entire Rumanian crop to replace her deficiency in fats.

The government issued a formal denial of what it called "wild reports" that three German-bound Danube river freight boats had been sunk by explosions.

The freely-expressed fear in the Balkans that Germany might move into southeastern Europe was heightened by the comments of numerous British and French officials in the Near East that Allied forces were unable—at present—to resist effectively.

Unprepared.

These officials said the British-French armies in the Levant were strong enough to defend that area but were not yet prepared for any major expedition away from their bases.

They said the largest force which could be sent out of Palestine, Syria and Egypt was 200,000, small compared with the army Germany could place in the Balkans. Allied air forces in the Near East are not large enough, they said.

Americans Safe In Invaded Oslo, Washington Told

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The American legation at Oslo, Norway, has broken through the wall of silence separating it from the state department for nearly two days and announced that all Americans there are well so far as known.

The department reported today that Raymond E. Cox, first secretary of the legation at Oslo, arranged for the departure last night of members of the British legation and consulate staff including their families, totaling 18 persons, and one member of the French legation staff. They went by rail to Stockholm.

Last night's contact was made at 9 p. m. The last previous telegram from Cox had been received at the state department at 11 a. m. Tuesday. It was interrupted when the telegraph operator signaled that an air raid had begun and he had to run.

The state department also has heard from the American minister to Norway, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who was at an unnamed point in the interior of the war-torn country.

Britain Told Nazis 'Suffer Great Loss'

French Premier Reports Allies Lose Only 4 Warships Against 18; 'All Ships In Skaggerak Will Be Sunk,' House of Commons Told By Churchill.

BULLETIN

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—Norwegian forces have recaptured the port of Bergen from the German invaders, the Norwegian commander at the city reported by wireless, and are massing for an attempt to wrest Trondheim, farther up the west coast, from the enemy.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Winston Churchill said today that "four German cruisers—nearly half of their total pre-war strength and much more than their existing strength—have been sunk."

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Winston Churchill today told the house of commons "great losses have been suffered by the German navy" in a continuing air and naval battle launched by Germany's invasion of Norway.

"We have greatly gained by what has occurred in Scandinavia and northern waters in the strategic and military sense," he said.

"Hitler has made as great a strategic and political error as Napoleon when he invaded Spain."

(Premier Reynaud speaking in Paris at the same time declared that 18 German warships, including four cruisers, had been sunk in battles in Norwegian waters in which Allied losses were only four warships.)

Of Britain's losses, Churchill told the house of the sinking of the destroyers Glowworm and Gurkha and the damaging of the battleship Rodney and the cruiser Aurora by bombing. He said the British destroyer Zulu had sunk a German submarine and described a running fight between the Renown and two German cruisers in a blizzard.

Churchill said Britain was occupying Denmark's Faroe Islands, between the Shetland Islands and Iceland, but that they would be returned to Denmark when she "is liberated from the foul thraldom into which she has been plunged by German aggression."

The hard-hitting Churchill proclaimed to the house that "all German ships in the Skager-

AIR RAIDS: Hint Scandinavia New German Base For Bombing

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—German naval forces last night sank two more Allied destroyers at the west fjord approach to Narvik, the official German news agency, DNB, reported today.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Nazi Germany is steadily tightening her fist of iron on Norway, authorized Germans contended today, and defying the Allies to loosen her hold.

"German positions throughout Norway are so thoroughly consolidated," these sources asserted, "that there is not the remotest possibility they could be dislodged by English and French forces."

They pictured a steady stream of German soldiers being transported to the northern kingdom to strengthen the forces landed Tuesday at strategic points.

Authorized sources then made the most categorical denial of reports of an extensive sea battle.

"In only two places did the German air force have encounters with the British fleet (yesterday)," they said, "but reports of a clash of major forces of the navy are wholly unfounded.

"Our transports continued crossing the Skagerrak until the Norwegian situation was completely in control."

Amid German celebration of "victory" over the British in protection of the Nazi foothold in Scandinavia there appeared today a hint that newly occupied bases might be used for bombing attacks on England.

The Berlin newspaper Lokal Anzeiger declared that Germany, af-

AT THE FRONT: French Get Set for Expected Nazi Offensive

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Formal advice to the French to be prepared for possible heavy fighting on the western front was issued today by military authorities and circulated to newspapers by the semi-official Havas news agency.

The events in the north Europe should not lead us to forget our front between the Moselle and the Rhine," the statement said. "This front may blaze up from one day to the other. At various points preparations have been observed which could indicate that an attack is coming."

Premier Paul Reynaud, who was visited this morning by United States Ambassador William Bullitt, will address the chamber of deputies this afternoon, it was announced.

French pursuit ships shot down two German scouting planes when they attempted to approach Paris early this morning, the high command announced.

An authorized commentator said the air fight took place near the capital.

Scouting patrols on both sides of the front continued to feel out each other and seek information on troop placement.

Military quarters said that complete measures had been taken to throw the full force of the French army against the Germans in case of attack.

TROJAN HORSE TACTICS USED

As a result of these tactics, Dewey may have won a hollow victory when he captured the GOP presidential primaries in Illinois and Nebraska's 14 delegates on the first convention ballot and may

CASE APPEALED

Deportation of Wooster Man By New York Attacked.

ALBANY—(U.P.)—Counsel for Rosario Chirillo, 62-year-old Mamaroneck shoe worker, appealed to the court of appeals today to set aside a county court order directing his return to Wooster, O., on the grounds it violated the federal constitution.

Morris Shapiro, of New York, appearing for Chirillo, contended a state law permitting "deportation" of out-of-state residents who are forced to go on relief during the first year of their residence, violated the constitutional provision that a citizen can choose his own residence.

Cat Saves Family From Flames But Loses Life

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Georgette, a Persian cat, was credited with saving five lives today but lost her own in a fire which swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fowler, five miles west of here. Georgette's meowing aroused the occupants, who escaped shortly before the stairway collapsed.

DESTROYS BARN

Blaze Started From Tractor Levels Farm Building.

A large barn, a milk room and corn crib on the W. B. Dillinger farm on route 13 three miles south of Mansfield were destroyed by fire shortly before noon today at a loss estimated at several thousand dollars.

Neighbors quickly formed a bucket brigade, but the flames spread so rapidly through the large frame barn that the fire was soon out of control. It was believed the blaze started from the exhaust of a tractor which was driving a straw baler near the barn.

Some machinery was taken from the barn, but several pieces of equipment and some corn and oats were destroyed. The Dillingers also lost some cured meat which was stored in the milk room near the barn.

A part of the loss was covered by insurance, it was said.

AIRPLANE SALE GETS GO-AHEAD

Allies Permitted Purchase of Fighting Planes; Navy Rushes Warships.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — As Europe's war blazed to its fiercest heights today, the Franco-British Allies got the long sought "go ahead" signal for purchase of latest type American fighting planes.

Simultaneously the navy, with one eye on Europe, decided to expedite the construction of 10 new warships and refit three submarines. In Congress, opposition appeared against proposed reductions in the fleet building program.

The war department cleared the Allied way yesterday by releasing for export three of the air corps newest pursuit ships, all credited with speed of 400 miles an hour or better. The planes are designed to prey on raiding bombers and to fight off

SEE WAR BOOM

Scandinavian Developments Boost Business Upturn.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Reports received from various parts of the United States within the past 24 hours indicate that Scandinavian developments may have given impetus to a budding business upturn, some trade sources said today.

George A. Renard, executive-secretary-treasurer, National Association of Purchasing Agents, said the current developments abroad have increased inventory buying throughout the country on a basis comparable to, but still smaller than, last September.

There had been increasing signs of a business upturn in recent weeks, he said, and as business bettered inventory positions in many lines were found to be not too ample.

Dizzy Stays Over

Cancels Train Reservation To See Cubs Play Browns.

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Dizzy Dean, who changes his mind faster than he ever changed his pitching pace, cancelled a midnight train reservation and guessed he'd stay over today to watch his Chicago Cubs play an exhibition game against the St. Louis Browns..

"I'm going to sit in the stands, eat peanuts and enjoy myself just like any other fan."

Ol' Diz beamed. He was feeling good after a chicken dinner, topped off by a beer or two. He apparently forgot that he was fined $100 and ordered by Manager Charles Hartnett to go on to Chicago.

* * *

Hartnett, apparently irked more by the telephone calls Dean's latest screwball antics caused him than by the pitcher's actual offense, suddenly was neither jovial nor gabby.

The trouble all started in Wichita. No one knows when it will end, or how.

"Who cares?" snapped Hartnett.

Dizzy told interviewers at Topeka he spent Tuesday night visiting an uncle, the Rev. Bland Dean, who lives 14 miles from Wichita.

"I knew I was going to be a little late (to catch the Cubs' special) so I tried to telephone Hartnett. I couldn't get him."

He caught a later train and arrived 30 minutes behind the Cubs.

His uncle said "I didn't see Dizzy. He didn't show up."

Dean slipped in his fast one: "Aw I didn't say my uncle. I said my nephew. Any of the boys'll tell you I was with him."

Said Hartnett: "$100 fine and home to Chicago."

Dean made a train reservation for St. Louis to see his wife—his moral and spiritual adviser in times of stress. Then Dean and most of the Cubs went out to Joe Gleeson's Golden Arrow tavern. Manager Hartnett was conspicuous by his absence.

* * *

There ol' Diz wavered between submission to Hartnett's orders and rebellion.

"I'm going to do anything Gabby wants me to."

A few bites later: "If they make that phony fine stick I'm going on an exhibition tour. Hell, I can make more than the $10,000 they're paying me in three weeks barnstorming."

Young Ties League Mark With 679 Total

THREE keglers today share the three-game individual record in the City Class A bowling league following the circuit's weekly play at the Meder alleys last night.

Brig Young smashed out a 679 and his spectacular total pushed him into a tie with Clarence and Eddie Meder for the high mark.

Starting out with an ordinary 197, Brig soared to 245 in the middle game and finished with a 237 to compile his total, as he led the Weidner Pontiacs to a 2876 total and two wins over the Ingram and Martin Oldsmobiles.

Jim Smith trailed Young in the scoring column with a 664 on games of 229, 235 and 200. Ed Meder scored a 602.

Attend Ohio State Loop Meet

League Officials Complete Plans to Stage All-Star Contest In Mid-Season.

OHIO STATE LEAGUE FANS will have a chance this year of seeing all the circuit's oustanding players in action at one time when an All-Star contest is staged late in July.

Officials of the six-team circuit completed plans for the classic at a banquet and meeting held last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The rosters of the two teams clashing in the contest will be selected by sports' writers in the league. Players from Findlay, Fremont and Fostoria will meet a club selected from Mansfield, Lima and Tiffin. The two managers will also be picked by the scribes.

* * *

Proceeds from the game will be used for league promotion, Paul Shank, circuit president, said today.

A trophy will be given this year to the winner of the playoffs, it was announced last night. T. R. Schoonover, of Lima, president of the City Loan company, will donate the trophy.

The league will also try to pass a rule allowing 15 players on each club's roster. In previous years each team was allowed 14 players and a playing-manager. Clubs can be composed of two veterans, seven limited service players and five rookies.

Team presidents also adopted the new century base for the league this season.

Five umpires have been secured to work in the league, Shank stated. They are Robert Wilson of Canada; Joe Konold, Warren; Mike Apel, Toledo; James Vennari, Flint, Mich., and Joe Odarui of Baltimore, Md.

Injury Hampers Mansfield Boy In Boston Meet

Beauford Glover Blinded By Blood From Eye Cut as He Drops Semi-Final Decision.

BOSTON—Handicapped by an eye injury, Beauford Glover, Mansfield lightweight, lost his chances of annexing a National A. A. U. championship here last night by dropping a decision to Tommy Moyer of Portland, Ore., in a thrilling semi-final tussle.

Glover, participating in his fourth fight, entered the ring with patches over both eyes, one covering a bad cut and the other acting as a decoy. He suffered the injury in his quarter-final heat.

They started fast, swapping lefts and rights, each taking as many as he received. They were pretty even all through the first setto. Moyer, however, was working on Glover's eyes.

The Mansfielder, seeking his second major title this year, came back strongly in the third, fighting desperately to overcome Moyer's early lead but it was useless. The Portland boy was too strong and held off the Ohioan's game, but futile bid.

Glover, blinded by the blood, broke loose with a flurry in the third and rocked his rival several times with smashing right crosses.

Joey Maxin, Cleveland middleweight, defeated Louis Angelucci to win the 160-pound title. It was Joey's fourth major title in amateur tournaments since the first of the year. He had previously won the Cleveland, Chicago and New York crowns.

In the welterweight division, John Lawer, the other member of the Lake City team still in the meet, lost a decision to Henry Brimm of Buffalo in the finals.

STILL RATE RANGERS, LEAFS AT EVEN MONEY

TORONTO —(U.P.)— The New York Rangers were rated at no better than even money for their clash with the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the fifth game of the Stanley cup final series.

Each club has won two games in the best of seven series, the Rangers winning the first two at Madison Square Garden. The Rangers have not won the cup since 1933. The Leafs obtained their last trophy in 1932.

Five-Man Teams to Fill Alleys

Keglers Attempt to Send Leaders Into 3000 Class At ABC Tourney.

DETROIT —(U.P.)— Eighty five-man teams from Los Angeles to Brockton, N. Y., fill the alleys of the American Bowling Congress tonight in another attempt to send leaders into the 3000 class.

On the first squad the Hollywood stars from the film colony get a chance to push scoring out of the doldrums while on the last shift Warner Brothers team will feature Max Stein, all-time all-events champion of the ABC. Stein, formerly of St. Louis, hit 2070 for the nine-game route at New York in 1937.

The heavy week-end invasion is expected to determine the pattern of five-man scoring. In event the ranking teams are unable to find the range for better-than-average totals, the current leaders may still be in front when the tournament ends May 7.

H. and K. Conklin Motor Freight of Toledo, O., reached a sixth place tie in the fivee-man standings last night with a 2922. Opening with 854, the Freighters rallied with 1021 and 1047.

CHICAGO STAR CLAIMS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Adolph Kiefer, Chicago swimming star, claimed a new world record of 1:33.6 minutes today for the 150 yard backstroke event.

This mark, established in conjunction with the central A. A. U. title meet last night, bettered by almost three seconds the time of 1:36.4 set by Al Vanderweghe of Princeton university.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Not one single letter asking me NOT to pick the way the teams will finish in the major leagues this season has come to my desk.

* * *

After mulling this over in my mind I came to the conclusion that this lack of requests to lay off could mean but one thing:

That everybody in the country must want me to make a prediction on the 16 teams.

Now before I start my selections, let me get everything in order. First, let me see if I can name the teams in each league. Well, never mind, I can always look them up in a baseball book. Secondly, let me try to remember how they finished last year. Well, never mind, that'll be in the baseball book, too.

Okay, let's start with the National league.

Cincinnati will be first and St. Louis second, or vice versa. Brooklyn will finish third and New York fourth, or vice versa. Chicago will be fifth, Pittsburgh sixth, Boston seventh, and you guess who will be eighth.

Now, while you are running out to get your bets down, I'll collect my data on the American league.

The American league presents no such easy problem as the National, where it was possible to definitely place each team in the spot it will occupy at the close of the season.

But here is how I finally figured it out:

Yankees first and Red Sox second, or vice versa. Cleveland third and Detroit fourth, or vice versa. Chicago will be fifth, Philadelphia sixth, Washington seventh and you guess who eighth.

* * *

In a way it's a shame for me to give you this information. It is bound to remove some of the thrill as you go to the summer ball games. What can it possibly matter who wins or loses on a particular day, because you and I know what the ultimate outcome is to be.

Hubbell Beats Cleveland Club

King Carl Holds Indians to Four Hits.

Carl Hubbell, Giant pitching ace, held the Indians to four hits and struck out eight men as the Giants tamed the Indians with a 4 to 1 score yesterday.

A double fired from the bat of Ken Keltner ruined King Carl's chance for a shut-out and brought in the only Cleveland run. Soup Campbell had previously been walked and romped in for the single talley.

* * *

Although the Indians held the Giants to three hits, they got the hits when they most needed them. A single brought in two runs after Al Smith issued four straight passes by wild pitching.

Qualifying Rounds of National Golf Open to Be Held May 27

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Qualifying rounds for the National Open tournament will be played in 26 districts on May 27, the U. S. Golf association announced today.

Rounds were played in 32 districts last year. Explaining the cut, the U. S. G. A. said: "It was felt the players in those districts would be either sufficiently served by other established points or unlikely to attend the championship."

Districts eliminated were Huntington, W. Va., Richmond, Va., Atlanta, Memphis, New Orleans and Houston.

The tournament proper will be held June 6-8 at Canterbury Golf club, Warrensville, O., near Cleveland. A field of 170 will be eligible to compete.

Players who participate in the 36 holes of stroke play in the sectional qualifying rounds probably will be shooting for approximately 139 places in the tournament because the low 30 men and ties in last year's championship automatically are eligible. Last year 31 men earned those places and the remaining 139 positions—if all exempt players compete—will be allotted to the various sections according to the number of entrants received.

Entries will close at the U. S. G. A. office in New York at 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 14.

The list of districts and courses where qualifying rounds will be held includes:

* * *

Cincinnati, Hamilton County Golf and Country club; Cleveland, Nanakiki Golf and Country club, Willoughby, O.; Pittsburgh, Westmoreland Country club, Vernon, Pa.

Training Camp Notes

(By Associated Press)

DANVILLE, Va.—The Cleveland Indians' anxiety over Hal Trosky's injured hand was lightened today after an X-ray examination showed no broken bones. The big first baseman expects to return to the lineup possibly Saturday or Sunday when the club completes its exhibition series with the New York Giants in Cleveland.

* * *

PORTSMOUTH, O.—Opening their four game skirmish with the Cincinnati Reds, the Detroit Tigers were ready today to face hard facts regarding their pitching. It's none too promising and the series with the Reds may show it up for what it is. The Reds came into the series on the heels of an 11-game duel with the Boston Red Sox and Manager Bill McKechnie planned to rest Paul Derringer until the opening game next Tuesday.

* * *

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Manager Frankie Frisch sent the Pittsburgh Pirates here in charge of Coach Mike Kelly and went to St. Louis for a further check on the throat ailment that kept him in bed last week. Today's game was the last between the Pirates and White Sox.

LYNCHBURG, Va. — That "break up the Yankees" business may have something to it after all. Joe Gordon's sprained ankle is worse than was thought and he may not be able to open the season at second base. Reserve Outfielder Jake Powell crashed into a steel fence at Ashland, Ky., and suffered a brain concussion. He'll be in a hospital three or four days. Lefty Gomez has a bruised knee.

* * *

BALTIMORE, Md.—A hint as to the pitching choices Manager Joe Cronin may have in mind for the Boston Red Sox when he isn't using old Mose Grove may be the successful combination he sent against the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday—Dennis Galehouse, Emerson Dickman and Jim Bagby.

Fans to See Indians In Action Saturday

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Cleveland's preview of the 1940 Indians is scheduled for League park Saturday afternoon.

The game will be the semi-final of the spring series with the New York Giants, the teams clashing here again Sunday in the closing exhibition tussle.

The Indians open the season Tuesday in Chicago, returning the following Friday for the home inaugural against Detroit.

The Giants held a six to five edge in the series as the teams squared off at Danville, Va., today. Tomorrow's tussle is scheduled for Bluefield, W. Va.

Manager Oscar Vitt probably will use the lineup he has named for the Chicago opener in the week-end contests. Two possible exceptions are at first base and in center field.

Vitt selected an infield of Hal Trosky, Ray Mack, Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner and an outer defense of Jeff Heath, Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman. Rollie Hemsley will catch.

* * *

If Trosky's injured hand is not in shape for the exhibitions, Oscar Grimes will play first and if a left-hander pitches for the Giants Beau Bell may replace Weatherly. In the event of such an outfield shift, Bell would play right and Chapman move to center.

Rejects Bid To Make Lake Sanctuary

Ohio Commission Terms Proposal 'unnecessary.'

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Terming the measure "unnecessary," the Ohio Conservation commission today rejected a proposal by U. S. Sen. Vic Donahey that Indian Lake, where the senator lives, be designated as a waterfowl sanctuary and placed under the jurisdiction of the federal biological survey.

Senator Donahey has already introduced legislation to accomplish the transfer in congress, but the proposal needed the confirmation of the conservation commission.

The commission also voted to set aside 81 safety zones, closing about 52 miles of streams in 48 counties to fishing from April 15 to next Feb 28 to protect spawning. Atwood reservoir, in Carroll and Tuscarawas counties, and Stark counties, also were closed to fishing and motor boating.

The annual public hearing on game laws and regulations for the 1940-41 season was set for June 11.

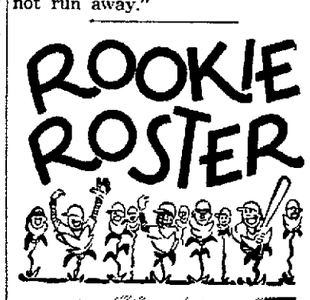
With the announcement thee commission also issued a warning against rabid foxes. A fox relieved mad, captured by a bus driver and school children at Caldwell, bit and scratched two of the children, it was said. The commission warned against all animals that seemed "tame and do not run away."



Russell Peters, infielder, Cleveland Indians . . . former Philadelphia Athletic player who comes up this year from Atlanta where he hit .316 in 151 games . . . six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds . . . right-handed hitter . . . attended Washington and Lee university.

DETROIT TIGERS MEET CINCINNATI REDS TODAY

PORTSMOUTH—(U.P.)—The Detroit Tigers, wilted after their first defeat of the exhibition season by a minor league club, take on Cincinnati here today in the first of four games.

The Tigers, aided by five errors, scored five runs on four hits against Evansville of the Three-Eye league yesterday but were beaten 7-5.

DAYTON—(AP)—Promoter Jack M. Werst has offered Petey Scalzo, featherweight champion, $5,000 or a privilege of 25 per cent of the gate to defend his title against Joe Marinelli, of Dayton, in a 15-round bout here June 14.

START PRACTICE SESSIONS

The Alta Lumber softball team, which played under the Musille Cigar banner last season, will inaugurate practice sessions at Liberty park Friday, Manager Pete Schadek said today. All players are requested to report to him at the playing field at 5:45 p. m.

James Gilger, of Mogadore, whom Manager Dewey Stover retained from the Braves' rookie school, is pictured above, at left, warming up at the Mansfield club's opening session at the spring training camp yesterday. In the top picture on the right, Don Dudley of Mansfield, who is trying to win a berth on the hurling corps, takes his warm-up pitches before seeing duty in batting practice. Joe Sandra, Chicago catcher, dons his equipment for a workout under Stover's watchful eyes. He comes well recommended.

Dizzy Stays Over

Cancels Train Reservation To See Cubs Play Browns.

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Dizzy Dean, who changes his mind faster than he ever changed his pitching pace, cancelled a midnight train reservation and guessed he'd stay over today to watch his Chicago Cubs play an exhibition game against the St. Louis Browns.

"I'm going to sit in the stands, eat peanuts and enjoy myself just like any other fan."

Ol' Diz beamed. He was feeling good after a chicken dinner, topped off by a beer or two. He apparently forgot that he was fined $100 and ordered by Manager Charles Hartnett to go on to Chicago.

* * *

Hartnett, apparently irked more by the telephone calls Dean's latest screwball antics caused him than by the pitcher's actual offense, suddenly was neither jovial nor gabby.

The trouble all started in Wichita. No one knows when it will end, or how.

"Who cares?" snapped Hartnett.

Dizzy told interviewers at Topeka he spent Tuesday night visiting an uncle, the Rev. Bland Dean, who lives 14 miles from Wichita.

"I knew I was going to be a little late (to catch the Cubs' special) so I tried to telephone Hartnett. I couldn't get him."

He caught a later train and arrived 30 minutes behind the Cubs.

His uncle said "I didn't see Dizzy. He didn't show up."

Dean slipped in his fast one: "Aw I didn't say my uncle. I said my nephew. Any of the boys'll tell you I was with him."

Said Hartnett: "$100 fine and home to Chicago."

Dean made a train reservation for St. Louis to see his wife—his moral and spiritual adviser in times of stress. Then Dean and most of the Cubs went out to Joe Gleeson's Golden Arrow tavern. Manager Hartnett was conspicuous by his absence.

* * *

There ol' Diz wavered between submission to Hartnett's orders and rebellion.

"I'm going to do anything Gabby wants me to."

A few bites later: "If they make that phony fine stick I'm going on an exhibition tour. Hell, I can make more than the $10,000 they're paying me in three weeks barnstorming."

Young Ties League Mark With 679 Total

THREE keglers today share the three-game individual record in the City Class A bowling league following the circuit's weekly play at the Meder alleys last night.

Brig Young smashed out a 679 and his spectacular total pushed him into a tie with Clarence and Eddie Meder for the high mark.

Starting out with an ordinary 197, Brig soared to 245 in the middle game and finished with a 237 to compile his total, as he led the Weidner Pontiacs to a 2876 total and two wins over the Ingram and Martin Oldsmobiles.

Jim Smith trailed Young in the scoring column with a 664 on games of 229, 235 and 200. Ed Meder scored a 602.

53 OHIO STABLES ENTER BEULAH SPRING MEETING

COLUMBUS—(AP)— The spring race meeting at Beulah Park, opening April 20, will include horses from 53 Ohio stables, it was announced today.

Of the Ohio owners, 16 are registered from Columbus, nine from Grove City, five from Lancaster and four each from Cleveland and Dayton.

Attend Ohio State Loop Meet

League Officials Complete Plans to Stage All-Star Contest In Mid-Season.

OHIO STATE LEAGUE FANS will have a chance this year of seeing all the circuit's oustanding players in action at one time when an All-Star contest is staged late in July.

Officials of the six-team circuit completed plans for the classic at a banquet and meeting held last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The rosters of the two teams clashing in the contest will be selected by sports' writers in the league. Players from Findlay, Fremont and Fostoria will meet a club selected from Mansfield, Lima and Tiffin. The two managers will also be picked by the scribes.

* * *

Proceeds from the game will be used for league promotion, Paul Shank, circuit president, said today.

A trophy will be given this year to the winner of the playoffs, it was announced last night. T. R. Schoonover, of Lima, president of the City Loan company, will donate the trophy.

The league will also try to pass a rule allowing 15 players on each club's roster. In previous years each team was allowed 14 players and a playing-manager. Clubs can be composed of two veterans, seven limited service players and five rookies.

Team presidents also adopted the new century base for the league this season.

Five umpires have been secured to work in the league, Shank stated. They are Robert Wilson of Canada; Joe Konold, Warren; Mike Apel, Toledo; James Vennari, Flint, Mich., and Joe Odarui of Baltimore, Md.

Injury Hampers Mansfield Boy In Boston Meet

Beauford Glover Blinded By Blood From Eye Cut as He Drops Semi-Final Decision.

BOSTON—Handicapped by an eye injury, Beauford Glover, Mansfield lightweight, lost his chances of annexing a National A. A. U. championship here last night by dropping a decision to Tommy Moyer of Portland, Ore., in a thrilling semi-final tussle.

Glover, participating in his fourth fight, entered the ring with patches over both eyes, one covering a bad cut and the other acting as a decoy. He suffered the injury in his quarter-final heat.

They started fast, swapping lefts and rights, each taking as many as he received. They were pretty even all through the first setto. Moyer, however, was working on Glover's eyes.

The Mansfielder, seeking his second major title this year, came back strongly in the third, fighting desperately to overcome Moyer's early lead but it was useless. The Portland boy was too strong and held off the Ohioan's game, but futile bid.

Glover, blinded by the blood, broke loose with a flurry in the third and rocked his rival several times with smashing right crosses.

Joey Maxin, Cleveland middleweight, defeated Louis Angelucci to win the 160-pound title. It was Joey's fourth major title in amateur tournaments since the first of the year. He had previously won the Cleveland, Chicago and New York crowns.

In the welterweight division, John Lawer, the other member of the Lake City team still in the meet, lost a decision to Henry Brimm of Buffalo in the finals.

Moyer didn't win the lightweight crown. He dropped a close decision to Paul Matsumoto of Hawaii.

STILL RATE RANGERS, LEAFS AT EVEN MONEY

TORONTO —(U.P.)— The New York Rangers were rated at no better than even money for their clash with the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the fifth game of the Stanley cup final series.

Each club has won two games in the best of seven series, the Rangers winning the first two at Madison Square Garden. The Rangers have not won the cup since 1933. The Leafs obtained their last trophy in 1932.

Five-Man Teams to Fill Alleys

Keglers Attempt to Send Leaders Into 3000 Class At ABC Tourney.

DETROIT —(U.P.)— Eighty five-man teams from Los Angeles to Brockton, N. Y., fill the alleys of the American Bowling Congress tonight in another attempt to send leaders into the 3000 class.

On the first squad the Hollywood stars from the film colony get a chance to push scoring out of the doldrums while on the last shift Warner Brothers team will feature Max Stein, all-time all-events champion of the ABC. Stein, formerly of St. Louis, hit 2070 for the nine-game route at New York in 1937.

* * *

The heavy week-end invasion is expected to determine the pattern of five-man scoring. In event the ranking teams are unable to find the range for better-than-average totals, the current leaders may still be in front when the tournament ends May 7.

H. and K. Conklin Motor Freight of Toledo, O., reached a sixth place tie in the fivee-man standings last night with a 2922. Opening with 854, the Freighters rallied with 1021 and 1047.

CHICAGO STAR CLAIMS NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Adolph Kiefer, Chicago swimming star, claimed a new world record of 1:33.6 minutes today for the 150 yard backstroke event.

This mark, established in conjunction with the central A. A. U. title meet last night, bettered by almost three seconds the time of 1:36.4 set by Al Vanderweghe of Princeton university.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Not one single letter asking me NOT to pick the way the teams will finish in the major leagues this season has come to my desk.

* * *

After mulling this over in my mind I came to the conclusion that this lack of requests to lay off could mean but one thing:

That everybody in the country must want me to make a prediction on the 16 teams.

Now before I start my selections, let me get everything in order. First, let me see if I can name the teams in each league. Well, never mind. I can always look them up in a baseball book. Secondly, let me try to remember how they finished last year. Well, never mind, that'll be in the baseball book, too.

Okay, let's start with the National league.

Cincinnati will be first and St. Louis second, or vice versa. Brooklyn will finish third and New York fourth, or vice versa. Chicago will be fifth, Pittsburgh sixth, Boston seventh, and you guess who will be eighth.

Now, while you are running out to get your bets down, I'll collect my data on the American league.

The American league presents no such easy problem as the National, where it was possible to definitely place each team in the spot it will occupy at the close of the season.

But here is how I finally figured it out:

* * *

Yankees first and Red Sox second, or vice versa. Cleveland third and Detroit fourth, or vice versa. Chicago will be fifth, Philadelphia sixth, Washington seventh and you guess who eighth.

* * *

In a way it's a shame for me to give you this information. It is bound to remove some of the thrill as you go to the summer ball games. What can it possibly matter who wins or loses on a particular day, because you and I know what the ultimate outcome is to be.

Hubbell Beats Cleveland Club

King Carl Holds Indians to Four Hits.

Carl Hubbell, Giant pitching ace, held the Indians to four hits and struck out eight men as the Giants tamed the Indians with a 4 to 1 score yesterday.

* * *

A double fired from the bat of Ken Keltner ruined King Carl's chance for a shut-out and brought in the only Cleveland run. Soup Campbell had previously been walked and romped in for the single talley.

* * *

Although the Indians held the Giants to three hits, they got the hits when they most needed them. A single brought in two runs after Al Smith issued four straight passes by wild pitching.

Qualifying Rounds of National Golf Open to Be Held May 27

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Qualifying rounds for the National Open tournament will be played in 26 districts on May 27, the U. S. Golf association announced today.

Rounds were played in 32 districts last year. Explaining the cut, the U. S. G. A. said: "It was felt the players in those districts would be either sufficiently served by other established points or unlikely to attend the championship."

Districts eliminated were Huntington, W. Va., Richmond, Va., Atlanta, Memphis, New Orleans and Houston.

The tournament proper will be held June 6-8 at Canterbury Golf club, Warrensville, O., near Cleveland. A field of 170 will be eligible to compete.

Players who participate in the 36 holes of stroke play in the sectional qualifying rounds probably will be shooting for approximately 139 places in the tournament because the low 30 men and ties in last year's championship automatically are eligible. Last year 31 men earned those places and the remaining 139 positions—if all exempt players compete—will be allotted to the various sections according to the number of entrants received.

Entries will close at the U. S. G. A. office in New York at 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 14.

The list of districts and courses where qualifying rounds will be held includes:

* * *

Cincinnati, Hamilton County Golf and Country club; Cleveland, Nanakiki Golf and Country club, Willoughby, O.; Pittsburgh, Westmoreland Country club, Vernon, Pa.

Training Camp Notes

(By Associated Press)

DANVILLE, Va. — The Cleveland Indians' anxiety over Hal Trosky's injured hand was lightened today after an X-ray examination showed no broken bones. The big first baseman expects to return to the lineup possibly Saturday or Sunday when the club completes its exhibition series with the New York Giants in Cleveland.

* * *

PORTSMOUTH, O. — Opening their four game skirmish with the Cincinnati Reds, the Detroit Tigers were ready today to face hard facts regarding their pitching. It's none too promising and the series with the Reds may show it up for what it is. The Reds came into the series on the heels of an 11-game duel with the Boston Red Sox and Manager Bill McKechnie planned to rest Paul Derringer until the opening game next Tuesday.

* * *

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Manager Frankie Frisch sent the Pittsburgh Pirates here in charge of Coach Mike Kelly and went to St. Louis for a further check on the throat ailment that kept him in bed last week. Today's game was the last between the Pirates and White Sox.

LYNCHBURG, Va. — That "break up the Yankees" business may have something to it after all. Joe Gordon's sprained ankle is worse than was thought and he may not be able to open the season at second base. Reserve Outfielder Jake Powell crashed into a steel fence at Ashland, Ky., and suffered a brain concussion. He'll be in a hospital three or four days. Lefty Gomez has a bruised knee.

* * *

BALTIMORE, Md.—A hint as to the pitching choices Manager Joe Cronin may have in mind for the Boston Red Sox when he isn't using old Mose Grove may be the successful combination he sent against the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday—Dennis Galehouse, Emerson Dickman and Jim Bagby.

Fans to See Indians In Action Saturday

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Cleveland's preview of the 1940 Indians is scheduled for League park Saturday afternoon.

* * *

The game will be the semi-final of the spring series with the New York Giants, the teams clashing here again Sunday in the closing exhibition tussle.

The Indians open the season Tuesday in Chicago, returning the following Friday for the home inaugural against Detroit.

The Giants held a six to five edge in the series as the teams squared off at Danville, Va., today. Tomorrow's tussle is scheduled for Bluefield, W. Va.

Manager Oscar Vitt probably will use the lineup he has named for the Chicago opener in the week-end contests. Two possible exceptions are at first base and in center field.

Vitt selected an infield of Hal Trosky, Ray Mack, Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner and an outer defense of Jeff Heath, Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman. Rollie Hemsley will catch.

* * *

If Trosky's injured hand is not in shape for the exhibitions, Oscar Grimes will play first and if a left-hander pitches for the Giants Beau Bell may replace Weatherly. In the event of such an outfield shift, Bell would play right and Chapman move to center.

Rejects Bid To Make Lake Sanctuary

Ohio Commission Terms Proposal ' nnecessary.'

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Terming the measure "unnecessary," the Ohio Conservation commission today rejected a proposal by U. S. Sen. Vic Donahey that Indian Lake, where the senator lives, be designated as a waterfowl sanctuary and placed under the jurisdiction of the federal biological survey.

Senator Donahey has already introduced legislation to accomplish the transfer in congress, but the proposal needed the confirmation of the conservation commission.

The commission also voted to set aside 81 safety zones, closing about 52 miles of streams in 48 counties to fishing from April 15 to next Feb 28 to protect spawning. Atwood reservoir, in Carroll and Tuscarawas counties, and Stark counties, also were closed to fishing and motor boating.

The annual public hearing on game laws and regulations for the 1940-41 season was set for June 11.

With the announcement thee commission also issued a warning against rabid foxes. A fox relieved mad, captured by a bus driver and school children at Caldwell, bit and scratched two of the children, it was said The commission warned against all animals that seemed "tame and do not run away."

Russell Peters, infielder, Cleveland Indians . . . former Philadelphia Athletic player who comes up this year from Atlanta where he hit .316 in 151 games . . . six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds . . . right-handed hitter . . . attended Washington and Lee university.

DETROIT TIGERS MEET CINCINNATI REDS TODAY

PORTSMOUTH—(U.P.)—The Detroit Tigers, wilted after their first defeat of the exhibition season by a minor league club, take on Cincinnati here today in the first of four games.

The Tigers, aided by five errors, scored five runs on four hits against Evansville of the Three-Eye league yesterday but were beaten 7-5.

DAYTON—(AP)—Promoter Jack M. Werst has offered Petey Scalzo, featherweight champion, $5,000 or a privilege of 25 per cent of the gate to defend his title against Joe Marinelli, of Dayton, in a 15-round bout here June 14.

MAKES 'EVEN' 600

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—If you think there's nothing unusual about Carl Neuner's three-game bowling score of 600 in a Recreation league match last night, try making it the way he did—200, 200 and 200.

COLLECTS SHAKERS

GIRARD —(AP)— Mrs. Kay Spangler has a peculiar hobby: Collecting salt and pepper shakers. She's garnered 196 pairs of them in three years.

Cat-shaped shakers are the toughest to get, Mrs. Spangler observed. But among her odder shakes are: Giant Pandas, a pair in the form of a baseball glove and bat, tiny refrigerators, and shakers resembling miniature fruits.

any faster craft accompanying them.

The action promised an end to the Allied delay in placing an estimated $1,000,000,000 order for about 8,000 American military planes and 13,000 engines. The contracts had been held up because the Allies claimed that anything but the latest type planes would be outclassed by the enemy by the time mass deliveries began a year hence.

The planes released were: The Bell P-39, known as the Airacobra and said to be one of the world's fastest pursuit ships; the Lockheed P-38, a two-motored, heavily armed interceptor craft, and an improved model of the Curtiss P-40, an advance type of the pursuit ship which already has been praised by the French for its performance against the Nazi Messerschmitt.

PROTECT EXCHANGE.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The United States took unprecedented action today to assure Norway and Denmark on the safety of their several hundred million dollars in holdings in this country.

Forestalling any possible German attempt to confiscate this rich store of foreign exchange for Nazi war chest, President Roosevelt by executive order prohibited the removal from America of any Danish and Norwegian assets, monetary or otherwise.

He took this step late yesterday shortly after extending the combat zone of European waters from which American ships are banned.

The treasury promptly instructed all holders of Danish or Norwegian wealth in this country to report it for an accounting.

CHOOSE BOYS

Patriotic Groups Select Boys State Candidates.

High school boys from Mansfield and other towns in the county are being chosen as candidates for the Boys State which will be held in Columbus in June. They are sent to Columbus by the American Legion and other patriotic organizations.

The Boys State is an annual American Legion project in which several hundred boys from all over the state are given a week's course in citizenship and American government. The cost of financing one boy for the week is $15.

Mansfield will be allowed only 16 boys this year, with an additional two allowed Shelby. The boys are chosen on the basis of good behavior, scholastic standing and high character.

W. E. Bradford is chairman of the Boys State committee for Earl D. McVey post this year and is seeking sponsors for the Mansfield boys.

TVA NEARS ITS 7TH BIRTHDAY AS EXPERIMENT

Controversy Over Its Value Continues as Many Lives Are Affected.

(By Associated Press)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The New Deal's $500,000,000 baby, the Tennessee Valley authority, will be seven years old on May 18, and already it has outgrown its rompers.

Conceived as the nation's first major experiment in planned economy two months after Franklin D. Roosevelt became president, the authority has grown until today many Tennessee Valley inhabitants consider it a vital force in their lives.

There are few persons in the area from the Mississippi Delta to the highlands of east Tennessee not affected directly or indirectly by the growth of the giant corporation and its numerous projects involving power production, navigaton, flood control, agriculture and social adjustment.

Some, from the lowliest sharecropper to the industrial tycoon, think of TVA as a symbol of a new era in which the historic Tennessee Valley is having its face lifted and its future carved anew.

So intriguing is the giant effort at regional planning that 40,000,000 persons from all parts of the world have come to see, to study, to ponder upon the undertaking.

By a series of ten big dams, the authority proposed to make the Tennessee river navigable from Knoxville to the Ohio (almost 600 miles), control floods and produce electric power. All other activities stemmed from these projects.

They include experiments and demonstrations of mechanical refrigeration with emphasis on quick-freezing farm products; research and experiments in rural electrification cooperatives; regional studies and detailed examination of mineral deposits; field studies on coal reserves, testing of clay deposits for semi-vitreous ceramics; commercial transportation investigations; study of land uses; a study of biological readjustment of wildlife and fish affected by the change of the river from a running stream to still lakes; studies of the social and economic effects of the TVA program, and a far-flung health program.

What the future will hold, of course, is a highly controversial subject throughout the nation, depending on the point of view and perhaps upon political alignments. Those who direct the course of the experiment foresee marginal thousands lifted to solid economic security, soil and forests conserved, an entire region rehabilitated commercially and socially. Others, of course, are less optimistic.

PASTORS MEET

BUCYRUS—Rev. J. E. Priestley, conference director of religious education and Rev. A. Robert Anderson, conference director of young people's work, will be in charge of conferences for pastors, church school officers and teachers and young people in church groups of the Methodist denomination at Epworth Methodist church tonight.

Dr. H. W. Peterson, district superintendent, will also be present to speak to the different conference groups.

COLLECTOR AGREES MODERN JOKES FUNNY ALTHOUGH OLD

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—The odds are strong against anybody who tells George E. Woodhams, "stop me" is you've heard this one."

Woodhams, who has collected 50,000 jokes and recently was invited to appear on a national hobby radio program, says Bob Burns went back to the early Turks for one of the Arkansas mirth provokers he broadcasts. At least the Turks laughed at it first.

When Eddie Cantor said he almost married Hedy Lamarr, only she didn't accept him, it reminded Woodhams of a joke he had read in a book published in 1871. In the ancient version a little boy said he almost owned a horse ,only the person didn't give it to him.

Woodhams, who is busy as deputy county agricultural commissioner when he isn't collecting jokes, says he does not agree that there are only 11 different jokes in the world but that most of them have been handed down from one generation to another, with variations.

"Not long ago I bought a 'new' joke book which made a great todo about 'reserving all rights.'" said Woodhams, "but I traced three-fourths of them to previous sources."

Anybody might think that Woodhams never laughs any more, but he gets a kick out of telling jokes. His favorite is about two Irishmen who were working at a quarry and one fell into a deep pit. The other cried out: "Pat, are ye killed?"

"No, Tim," he called back, "but I'm knocked spachless."

Woodhams has 1,041 Scotch jokes, one of them about the Scot who disliked the boarding house food so much he could hardly eat a second helping.

Among his assortment of 1,116 wisecracks is the one about the card game being named bridge because it spans a constant stream of conversation.

From the collection of 50,000, Woodhams has selected 750 and put them in a handy reference book designated "A No. 1." Under a subhead "absent minded" is one about the professor who discovered on a trip that he had been changing his shirt every thousand miles and changing the oil in his car twice a week.

DISPLAY ART

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beer, prominent eastern artists, who are visiting with the former's aunts and uncle, Miss Dorcas, Miss Katherine and Thomas Beer, exhibited a collection of water colors and oils which they brought to Ohio for a May showing at the Coulter galleries in Cleveland, at a tea at the Beer homestead between 2 and 5 o'clock today.

Many pictures in the collection were made by the artists during the past four summers spent at Nantucket.

FIVE TIMES TORPEDOED, SKIPPER SAILS IN NEUTRAL WATERS NOW

BALTIMORE—If the Allies ever decide to print a seaman's guide on "What to Do When Torpedoed," they would do well to pick Captain George H. Grant to write it. He's had five ships blown from under him.

Grant, Scotch-born American skipper, is here while his current command, the Musa, is being overhauled. During the World war he was in the British merchant marine.

A German raider sank the Norman Monarch in 1915 while Grant was second mate. The crew made it to the coast of Ireland. His next berth was as second mate on the Indian Monarch, mine-destroyed 700 miles from St. Helena.

In three boats the crew set out for safety. The captain's and first mate's boats headed for the coast of Africa. Grant's boat sailed for St. Helena. They made it in seven days, after rationing 30 gallons of water by the thimbleful. The other two boats were never heard from.

His next ship hit a mine in Bristol channel 15 miles from shore. Then his next vessel, the Karpat, was torpedoed. The San Andrea, his final berth, was torpedoed off Port Said in September, 1918.

But Captain Grant has sworn off paying flirtation with Davy Jones. The Musa is in the New York-Central America service, well within the neutrality zone, and that suits Captain Grant just fine.

Grant, since becoming an American citizen, has described his adventures in four books: "The Half Deck," "Consigned to Davy Jones," "Take to the Boats" and "The Heel of a Gale."

His home is in New York.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1940.

However important you may seem to yourself, you're only another four cents to the census taker.

The capacity house to which "Tobacco Road" played here a couple of nights ago at least gives an idea of the kind of show that can be depended upon to "pack 'em in."

At the age of 104 a Maryland man has just set out an apple orchard—while some of the younger generation are complaining that they have nothing to look forward to.

Seek Views On Traffic Problems

SUCH a survey of individual views on traffic problems as is being sought from its membership by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce might well be extended to include additional hundreds of residents of this community—at least to the point of securing expressions from members of other organizations through use of similar questionnaires.

The eleven subjects touched upon in the Chamber of Commerce questionnaire tend to disclose public thought on a great variety of traffic problems which have to do with convenience as well as safety.

All of these subjects have been widely discussed and some have been acted upon by a number of Ohio cities, or by legislation effective in other states.

It is asked, for instance, if you favor reducing the present speed limits at night. Some states have already made a ten-mile cut-down of speed limits after nightfall, with considerable reduction of accidents.

Several questions are associated with congestion in business districts, including possible by-passing of truck traffic, limited hours for unloading trucks, and request for views on desirability of installing parking meters in some business blocks.

Whether there should be more men in the police department, with additional patrolmen assigned entirely to traffic duty, is also a matter on which opinions are invited.

In an effort to discover "what annoys you most," the annoyances are listed as: Glaring headlights, failure to signal, cutting in and out, road hogging, careless pedestrians, unnecessary horn blowing, slow moving vehicles, no place to park.

The serious approach now being made to betterment of traffic conditions in Mansfield encourages belief that, with public co-operation, some really worthwhile accomplishments will result.

Political Competition Preferred

OBSERVERS in the totalitarian countries appear vastly amused by the political campaign in this country. They think all this competitive fiddling, orating and phenagling is an enormous waste of time and effort. Here we have, they say, at the same time a childish exhibition and a spectacular example of democratic inefficiency. And after all, they add, there is no assurance that the best man will win.

Maybe the "best man" doesn't always win an election, and no intelligent believer in representative government will maintain that it is always effective or fully efficient, in its immediate effect.

But we blunder ahead and learn from experience. A whole population becomes trained in the art and principles of government, so that in a crisis we can find someone competent to take the helm of the ship of state.

And so, we don't need any supermen like Stalin and Hitler, to appoint themselves and keep in power by the simple process of killing off those who disagree with them. Our political system is a living organism, with power and talent always rising from the grass roots, while dictatorship, for lack of competition, is a system of political death.

Increase In Fire Losses

DURING the first two months of this year, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, direct fire loss was about $14,000,000 higher than in the same period in 1939. If that ratio should obtain for the balance of the year, the increase would be close to $90,000,000, bringing the total loss to around the $400,000,000 level.

Indirect loss caused by fire is estimated at three or more times the direct loss. Lost jobs, orders, business of all kinds, are as serious as burned buildings. Most serious by far is fire's toll of human life, running to 10,000 in an average year.

The great majority of all fires are caused by human carelessness, ignorance, or indifference. They represent sheer and inexcusable waste of lives and resources.

Fire prevention is everybody's job. Next time you read of a home burning, reflect that it might have been your home. Next time you hear of someone meeting death from fire, think that you or a member of your family may be on fire's future list of victims. Then ask yourself: "Is fire prevention worth while?"

Frontiers Hamper Science

THE Rockefeller Foundation reports grants of about $9,500,000 made last year for co-operative work in forty-seven different lands, including Java, Fiji and Australia. This philanthropic research organization is not isolationist. It recognizes the great value of international studies, the pooling of scientific discoveries and the stimulation of activity in any country by reports of work done in others.

"Scientific growth," says Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, "is almost invariably the result of cross-fertilization between laboratories and groups in widely separated parts of the world." The present wars in Europe and Asia threaten this growth. The countries not directly involved carry on alone with increasing difficulty.

"Achievement in science, more often than not, is the result of the sustained thinking of many minds in many countries driving toward a common goal," Mr. Fosdick says. "The creative spirit of man cannot successfully be localized or nationalized. Ideals are starved when they are forced in behind frontiers. If as a result of the present cataclysm Europe sinks into an Arctic night, we shall not easily keep the fires lit in the universities and laboratories of America."

Advise Use of More Milk

WHILE this is a country of unequalled standards of living, average milk consumption is considerably below the level that health experts believe advisable.

During the past few years much progress has been made in the technique of milk production and handling, resulting in greater assurance of sanitary, disease-free and high quality product.

Various health organizations over the country are encouraging increased use of milk and other dairy products because of recognized food value—with stimulation of dairy farming as a secondary important consideration.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Life with father in Clarence Day's time may have been a family album affair with horse-drawn carriages and plenty of red plush upholstery, but they dined with an elegance which hasn't survived the chain restaurant and drugstore lunch counter era that came when prohibition doomed the great cafes of Shanley, Rector, Bustanoby, Reisenweber, Churchill, and perhaps one or two others.

They were dominant institutions on Broadway in a generation in which people's conversational powers were less limited than they are now, and to enter any of those places was a certificate of admittance to the company of Caruso, Blanche Ring, Nora Bayes, Isadora Duncan, Irene Castle, Sigmund Romberg, Richard Harding Davis, Ganna Walska, Charles Dana Gibson, Victor Herbert, Ziegfeld, Diamond Jim Brady, Lillian Russell, and a majority of the others whose names were important in New York then.

BUSTANOBY'S Cafe des Beaux Arts, on 40th street at 6th avenue, introduced dinner dancing in New York, and it was there that Jim Brady's celebrated dinner for Lillian Russell was given, at $100 a plate. At that dinner were Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador; David Warfield, Mary Garden, Otto H. Kahn, and the gorgeous Anna Held, whom Ziegfeld had just brought over from Paris. Mlle. Held was the first woman to enter Bustanoby's new women's bar, a sensational innovation then.

Bustanoby also was noted for his establishment at 9th street and 6th avenue (this was 1907), and it was there that Romberg, a piano player, collaborated with Bustanoby on the first song he ever wrote, "The Perfumed Waltz." Romberg went on from there to become the composer of The Student Prince, May Time, and scores of operettas that earned him riches and renown.

I THINK it is important to remember these flashbacks because after an absence of two generations Bustanoby between chapters of his memoirs, is returning to the field in which he established himself as one of the great restaurateurs of an older, mellower and perhaps more genteel time. Perhaps by the time this reaches you the Cafe des Gourmets, in 56th street, will have opened its doors with Jacques Bustanoby at the door to greet you. There will be no Anna Helds, Richard Harding Davises, Jim Bradys, or Dana Gibsons to sit around the tables and spin airy brocades of fancy, but the Bustanoby manner will be in evidence, and that is all that ever mattered anyway.

Timely Editorial

Preventing Blindness.

Making its 25th annual report, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness declares that there has been an increase in state and local programs for sight conservation. Fortunately too it finds that there has been an increase in co-operation in this effort by official health, welfare and educational bodies.

There is a growing interest, too, on the part of the general public, which is glad to see science, social service and government making advances in this field of saving the eyes and making clearer, healthier eye.

Ignorance, it is declared by the society, is at the bottom of most blindness, whether such blindness be the result of accident or the outcome of disease. The society therefore seeks to keep abreast of the scientific advances in medical and pedagogical knowledge and pass that knowledge on to the public.—Ohio State Journal.

CAUGHT!

Lewis' Threat Taken Seriously

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

JOHN L. LEWIS' third party threat is taken more seriously by practical politicians in Washington than by the press generally. The editorial view seems, in the main, to be that a third party wouldn't stand a chance of electing an independent presidential candidate. Historical precedent is cited to the effect that none ever has succeeded in doing so. Politicians don't dispute that this is true. What they do say is that a third ticket might so disturb the balance between the two major parties' respective votes as to change the result as between those two.

John L. Lewis

To be sure, John Lewis didn't specifically say that he'd launch a third party. What he did say was that he didn't "expect anything" from the Republicans. And he added that, if the Democrats' platform and nominee don't suit him either, he'll call a convention of his own.

It seemed hard to interpret such a promise as meaning otherwise than a third ticket's nomination—or how could his independent convention have any significance at all? It might not imply the creation of an out-and-out new party as a permanency. It might be only an attempt to assimilate certain groups of both Republicans and Democrats into his new alignment, leaving the remaining Republicans and Democrats, each "out on a limb." And then, presumably, HIS bunch presently would become the DEMOCRATIC party, the others amalgamating as Republicans.

Free Silver Days.

Back in free silver days a majority of the Democrats nominated William J. Bryan and a minority of them nominated Palmer and Buckner. But that wasn't a third party movement. Palmer and Buckner were BOLTING Democrats. They lost. They didn't represent a third party, however. The Republicans beat 'em on their joint Democratic merits.

I suppose it was the same in the much earlier greenback era.

But when ex-President Theodore Roosevelt ran, in the race between William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson, "Teddy" ran as a sure-enough third party-ite, a Bull Mooser. Well, he lost, but it was widely believed that Taft wouldn't have lost likewise if "Teddy" hadn't been in the contest.

That is to say, here was a third party ticket that it's likely decided the issue between the other two.

So it apears that a third party CAN be decisive, not in its own favor, but between the other two.

Triangular Contests.

We had another triangular contest the year that the elder Senator La Follette ran, as a Progressive, against President Coolidge and John W. Davis.

It did look then as if the two major parties needed to be realigned, and as if Senator La Follette might be able to do it. It didn't work. La Follette carried just one state—his own, Wisconsin.

So when Politicians are asked what they think of a third party movement, their verdict unanimously is—"Phooey!"

Yet this isn't equivalent to saying, "A third party movement can't raise hades." They have to remember the "Teddy" Roosevelt-Taft-Wilson campaign.

Politicians agree, in short, that there OUGHT to be a party realignment.

They don't agree as to how. They don't understand HOW.

Listen, World!

Pride.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

PRIDE! You're doubtful about that word. You're not sure that pride is a good thing. You've been warned against it. You distrust it when you meet it.

But that's wrong: for pride is both natural and necessary. Every living creature needs to think well of itself: needs to reach out and assert itself, and reach out and assert itself, and find its place in the sun. It wouldn't grow if it didn't.

Pride is just the voice of Life, telling of its hunger, boasting of its power, crying out for more room.

All good and brave and beautiful work is based on pride—based on some human's faith in himself and desire to do a good job for himself. We would have had no civilization if men had not been proud of themselves.

PRIDE LIES BACK OF EVERY BAD DEED, AS WELL AS GOOD DEED. EVERY FORM OF CUSSEDNESS AND CRIME IS BASED ON PRIDE.

That statement startles you, doesn't it. You don't believe it. But think about it.

Think of the murderer. He was not born a murderer. He was born just as you were born, with the same natural desire for a happy, healthy life. There was no vicious cruelty in his heart. He wanted to love people. He wanted people to love him. He wanted people to admire him. He wanted to get ahead in life, to win love, admiration, wealth and power. Pride drove him on.

And then something got in his way. Something seemed to loom before him and bar his way to happiness. You've had that same thing happen to you. You've known the same sick rage, the same desire to batter obstacles down.

But his desire drove him into a frenzy which you haven't known—and he killed. He didn't kill to destroy life. He killed to assert and protect his pride.

It is so with the murderer, and so with the thief, the forger, the the gambler, the gangster. Every crime is based on pride. We see criminals as deliberate and dangerous brutes, but the criminal sees himself as a man fighting for his rights—protecting his own pride and position.

That fact shouldn't make us softy with criminals, but it should make us wise about them; for we'll never be able to prevent crime, or protect ourselves against it, until we understand why the criminal gets that way.

Nor is crime the only outlet for sick pride. There are other forms of expression not quite as lawless but equally pesty.

The Gloom and the Grouch—
The Bigot and the Nut—
The Supersensitive Soul—
The Family Martyr—
The Jealous Guy or Girlie—
The Cry Baby and the Spit Fire—

They're all suffering from thwarted pride. They all have a normal desire to get ahead, and they all feel that they're not getting the breaks. Sometimes their peevishness is the moan of a hurt soul, and sometimes it's a racket to get attention; but always there is sick pride behind it.

Try to remember that, as you meet your fellow man. It will change life amazingly if you will. It will clear up countless mysteries, take the sting out of countless irritations. It will help you understand the queerest and the most vicious people. It may even help you to understand some of your own shenannigans.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

On Being Alone.

Do not be afraid to be
Alone, and do not fear
To sit quietly and think.
Let fate disappear.

And the every-day go by
All unheeded while
Meditation claims you, let Dreams and thoughts beguile.

Sitting quietly alone
Will mean much to you,
Afterwards with much more joy
Life you will pursue.

Why Boys Leave Home

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW a farm boy, abou twelve, lead a shorthorn calf along a country road. He wore a suit of ample overalls that trailed upon the ground beneath his heels. He had no hat, and his ruddy face was topped by a shock of bushy blond hair. He held the leading rope firmly in his hand, one end snapped into a ring of the animal's well-greased halter.

I stepped and waited until the boy and his calf came even with me, then greeted the lad. "Is he your own?" I asked. "He's a splendid animal! How old?"

"Ten months old, come May first. His mother slipped and broke her hip when he was two days old. Dad said if I could raise him I could have him. Nobody thought I'd do it. He cried for his mother almost all the time. I got up and warmed milk for him in the night and for more'n a week I fed him on a bottle. he follows me around like a lamb. I wouldn't need a rope."

He spoke to his pet and the big muzzle was thrust out for his stroking hand, while the animal's ears moved back and forth in response to the touch of his master's fingers.

"I dream' last night that Dad needed money and sold him to the butcher," said the boy. "When I woke up I was cryin'. That's why I'm takin' him away. My brother lives over beside the schoolhouse, and I can keep him there and feed him and we can be together more than at home. I aim to show him at the fair next fall. Dad never could wait for 'em to get big enough for that before he sold 'em. Dad's sold every calf he ever gave me."

"How many have you had?"

"This'n 'll make four that he gave me—until I growed 'em up. 'Bout the time the neighbors said how nice they looked that was a sign I'd lose my pet. He always says when it happens that he'll give me some money later; or he'll give me something else, but he only gave me two dollars so far. I had two runty pigs that had almost starved. I put 'em in a box by the stove and fed 'em like babies. In six months they were bigger'n any of Dads. That time he put both hands on my shoulders and said I was a better stock raiser'n him. I planned on a pair o' skates and a second hand bike. But when the stock buyer came it was the same old story. All the hogs were loaded on. That's why you see me here now. Dad doesn't know I'm gone."

This incident happened twenty years ago. I have always remembered it. I wonder if there are such fathers now?

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The president will personally ask congress to boost his original $1,000,000,000 WPA budget estimate to $1,500,000,000.

He will do this on top of his previous authorization to Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA Administrator, to tell the house appropriations subcommittee that the higher relief figure is needed.

Roosevelt disclosed his intention to go to bat personally for relief to Representative Clifton Woodrum, chairman of the committee who chided him for a last-minute upward revision of his budget estimate. Roosevelt pointed out that when he submitted the estimate in January he had warned that it was tentative and subject to change.

Economic conditions make an increase necessary, he told Woodrum, and he was prepared to assume personal responsibility for asking for it.

An economy advocate, Woodrum would not commit himself on whether he would go along with the new request. But with the president backing a $1,500,000,000 appropriation (the same as this year's), its chances of getting by congress are strengthened considerably.

Note—Harrington, an army engineer, fought vigorously for restoration of the $500,000,000 cut and was praised by the committee for the manner in which he presented his arguments.

Tough Break.

GEORGE P. REA, head of the New York curb exchange, certainly ran into tough luck in the publicity on his blast against the SEC.

He released to the press a lengthy statement he had sent out to exchange around the country urging their support of a drive to revise the securities law on the ground that it was obstructing the investment market. The New York Times gave it a full column in its influential financial section.

But topping the two columns immediately adjoining the story were these ironic headlines:

$100,000,000 OUTLAY BY CHICAGO EDISON FOR EXPANSION AND NEW PLANTS

BANKING GROUP TO SELL 714,835 COMMON OF INDIANAPOLIS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

$17,156,040 Offering Largest of Its Kind in Ten Years

Note—Later Leslie Gould, well-known New York financial writer, caustically advised Wall street to award Rea a "long pair of coat tails with brass handle bars" because "moves like this one by Mr. Rea just muddy the waters."

Labor Act Safety.

THE secret decision reached at the house Republican caucus on the drastic Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations Act was to play it safe.

The GOP boys will take no stand for the present. They will keep mum until public reaction can be gauged. Then the next step will be decided. But whatever party stand is decided on, the strategy will be to let the Democrats carry the ball in the open battling over the amendments.

Their author, Representative Howard Smith of Virginia, is a Democrat. By keeping silent and letting the Democrats scrap over the amendments, Republicans figure that regardless of how they vote, the proposals can be fixed in the mind of labor as a Democratic baby.

Originator of this strategy was Floor Leader Joe Martin, who besides having his wily eye fixed on the coming elections, also is personally cool to the Smith amendments. Martin feels that the Labor Act should be revised, but he is against anything as drastic as Smith proposes.

Martin's plan was approved overwhelmingly by the caucus, but not until Representative Clare Hoffman, fiery Michigan anti-unionite, had been sat upon.

In a thundering speech Hoffman demanded that his party colleagues get behind a discharge petition to bring out a bill he had introduced several months ago. This would completely emasculate the Labor Act, but has been getting mothball treatment from the labor committee. Hoffman was hot under the collar about it.

"Republicans ought to support a discharge petition," he shouted. "In that way we can take full credit for amending this vicious Labor Act. If every Republican will sign a petition I can get enough Democrats to go along to bring out my bill."

Hoffman and the Bull.

NO ONE interrupted Hoffman while he spoke, but when he finished, tall, gangling Representative John M. Robison, lone Kentucky Republican, who had been holding a whispered consultation with Martin, rose and drawled:

"My good Michigan friend reminds me of a red bull we had down in my neck of the woods who had a great antipathy to railroad trains. Every time one passed his pasture he would snort and rampage all over the place. He made a powerful lot of noise and frightened a lot of folks and got to thinking mighty high of himself.

"Well, one day he got to thinking so high about himself that he jumped the fence and ran up the tracks in the path of an oncoming express train. He was really going to show them how tough he was. Well, my friends, that bull derailed the train all right, but you couldn't scrape together enough of the bull to make a hamburger sandwich.

"The moral of this story, for the benefit of my good Michigan friend, is that everyone admires his powerful courage but nobody admires his judgment."

Hoffman was the only one who didn't join in the roar of laughter.

Uncertain Hold.

JOHN L. LEWIS' political hold on his CIO followers seems to be very uncertain.

Joe Salerno is head of the Massachusetts CIO and a potent figure in New England labor. During a radio debate before the Boston Forum he was asked, "Does the rank and file support the stand of John L. Lewis in opposing a third term for President Roosevelt?"

"Definitely no," replied Salerno. "There are hundreds of thousands of members of the CIO who will support the president if he runs again."

Censored.

THE speech John Neff, national secretary of the Young Democratic clubs, made at the 13-state meeting in Philadelphia was far different from the one he intended to deliver.

A big Virginia apple-grower and strong Garner booster, Neff arrived in the City of Brotherly Love with a manuscript loaded with hot anti-third term shots. Word of this reached the ear of Paul Lewis, head of the Pennsylvania Young Democrats and an ardent third termer.

Lewis summoned Neff and bluntly demanded to see his speech. Lewis declared that the Pennsylvania clubs were on record for a third term and would not countenance a hostile speech in their own bailiwick. Either Neff produced his speech for an advance perusal, or he wouldn't be allowed to make it.

Confronted with this ultimatum, Neff forked over and Lewis and his lieutenants eliminated a half dozen anti-third term cracks. The only remotely critical allusion they left was a statement that the Young Democrats should support a "conservative liberal" (whatever that is) for the nomination.

HEADED PROBES OF U. S. SPYING

'Mystery Man' of Department of State Carried Many Secrets to Grave.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The highest dignitaries of American diplomacy stood with bowed heads recently before the coffin of a man few really knew but all respected.

Bob Barnerman, "the mystery man," was dead.

With him to the grave he carried the choicest secrets of international police work—tales of spy rings, passport frauds, and the danger of sudden death that lurks near royalty.

So little was said of the state department's chief special agent during his lifetime that only now, a few weeks after his death, may it be revealed for the first time that the quiet investigator had an important hand in:

The investigation that led to the arrest of Earl Browder and other executives of the Communist party on charges of using false passports. Browder is now appealing a sentence of four years in the penitentiary and a $2,000 fine.

The arrest of a German spy ring in New York, charged with obtaining and transmitting to Germany secrets of the United States army. Three men and a woman—Otto Voss, Erich Glaser, Gunther Rumrich and Johanna Hofmann—were sentenced last year to from two to six years in the penitentiary.

The case of Ruth Marie Rubens, an American who traveled with her husband, probably a Latvian citizen, to Russia on passports made out on the basis of birth certificates of children long since dead. They were arrested by the Soviet police on espionage charges. Mrs. Rubens is out of jail but is still in Russia. Nothing is known of her husband.

There were dozens of such cases in the farther past—cases that in their day drew the top headlines but are now mostly forgotten, like the apprehension of the celebrated Monte Forte gang engaged in the manufacture of counterfeit passports and the wholesale smuggling of aliens.

Roosevelt Recommends Full Federal Reorganization

CHANGES MADE UNDER POWERS ALREADY HELD

Executive Order Shifts Four Government Agencies to New Departments.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asked congress today to give the next president authority to reorganized the entire federal executive establishment, including 21 administrative agencies now exempt.

He made this recommendation in a message accompanying a new reorganization order, issued under existing presidential powers which expire Jan. 20, 1941.

"The structure and management of our government, like the activities and services it performs must be kept abreast of social and economic change," he declared in asking congress to reenact the reorganization authority without exemptions.

Major Shifts.

Major shifts in the fourth reorganization order, which becomes effective within 60 days unless disapproved by both the house and senate, are:

1. Abolition of the air safety board, and placing of its functions in the Civil Aeronautics Authority. The CAA becomes the Civil Aeronautics board as an integral part of the commerce department But the CAA's rule-making, adjudicative and investigative functions remain independent

2. Federal food and drug administration moved from agriculture department to the Federal Security Administration.

3. Weather bureau moved from agriculture to commerce.

Soil Service.

4. Soil conservation service activities on public lands transferred from agriculture to interior, soil conservation on private lands remains in agriculture.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said this reorganization order is the last one planned under present statutory authority.

This ended speculation that the forestry service, now in agriculture might be shifted to interior. Possible transfer of forestry from agriculture was a heated issue in congress when the reorganization authority was granted

Important agencies exempt from present reorganization authority which Mr Roosevelt "strongly recommended" should be included in a new grant of power for possible reshuffling are the Interstate Commerce commission, National Labor Relations Board, general accounting office, Securities and Exchange commission Federal Communications commission, Federal Trade commission, Federal Power commission, Board of Tax Appeals, Federal Reserve System board of governors, Coast Guard, U. S. Maritime commission, and Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

URGE SESSION BE CONTINUED

Congress Told War Emergency Makes It Necessary to Remain on Job.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Demands that congress stay in session throughout the European war emergency —no matter how long it lasts— were sounded on both sides of Capitol Hill today.

Sens. Lodge (R. Mass.) Capper (R. Kan.) and Nye (R, N D) made the appeal in the senate, Rep Edith Nourse Rogers (R, Mass.) led the movement in the house

The demands ran counter to leadership plans for a June 1 adjournment, but the GOP leaders insisted that as long as a critical situation exists in Europe, the welfare of America calls for congress to stay on the job.

"Congress should be here, national conventions or no national conventions to watch over this country's foreign policy and to guard against any moves that might drag us into the conflict," said Nye

Capper said, "We must maintain American neutrality, and congress should be here to see that no moves are made away from that stand."

Mrs. Rogers said she did not "want" to endure the steaming Washington summer, but believed members should sacrifice personal comfort to the good of the people.

Disregarding these sentiments, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley told President Roosevelt plans were made for an adjournment about June 1, and other Democrats declared they saw no reason for carrying the session through the summer

DIPHTHERIA CASES FOUND

Health Commissioner Orders Isolation of Two Boys, Urges Immunization.

Two new cases of diphtheria, reported to the health department today brought a warning from Dr. Roy C Rehder, city-county health commissioner for parents to guard their children against the disease.

The cases reported today, both three-year-old children, were John Barnhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Barnhill, R. D. 6, Mansfield, and John McGinty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McGinty, 91 Vennum avenue.

Dr Rehder said the Barnhill child taken ill Sunday had been placed in isolation at the General hospital while the McGinty boy was quarantined at his home

The commissioner reported a third case under suspicion and added that throat cultures were being taken of all members of both families.

He urged parents to take advantage on the new low cost "Public Health Hour" sponsored by the Richland county medical society to secure immunization for their children and pointed out that pre-school examinations last year revealed that 80 per cent of the children under school age were not protected against the disease.

NEW AMERICAN GASOLINE ADDS 50 PER CENT TO FUEL POWER

CINCINNATI—A new American gasoline named Triptan, which gives on bench tests 50 per cent more power than the best military fuels anywhere in the world, was described to the American Chemical society today

Less spectacular, but equally important for leadership in aviation, was a new laboratory eye, described by a group of college professors as able to look at hydrocarbons, the stuff that makes gasoline, and give data for calculating an endless list of new types of gasoline.

"The developments," said Dr Gustav Egloff of Chicago, "make it certain that United States refining facilities can produce any conceivable quantity of fuels for United States aviation, and if needed for all the world."

Triptan has been tried only in laboratories Its 50 per cent extra power is obtained without adding lead which will increase the power possibly by another 20 per cent.

Another new American gasoline, already used in experimental U. S. planes and being shipped abroad, raises the power, speed and climb about 20 per cent, Dr. Egloff added. This new fuel is called Neohexane.

The laboratory eye is a spectroscope and reveals the rate at which atoms vibrate in hydrocarbons.

The vibration means power. Knowing the energy, mathematical experts are able to predict what new combinations of hydrocarbons are possible and how much useful power may be expected

CHIEF JUSTICE REFUSES CHANGE OF JUDGES IN SEWER RENT CASE

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court today refused to replace Judge P. H. Wieland of Mt Gilead as the presiding judge for trial of a case testing Mansfield's sewer rental ordinance

Mrs Druzella Gatton of Mansfield, plaintiff in an action against the city, filed a motion charging Judge Wieland with bias and prejudice and asking that a new judge be appointed to hear the case.

Her motion was submitted to Chief Justice Weygandt after Judge Wieland granted her only three days in which to employ new counsel after her attorney failed to appear for trial of the case.

Judge Wieland will come to Mansfield next Thursday to hear Mrs Gatton's demurrer to an answer and cross-petition filed by the city in which a judgment for $4 against her was asked

Filed in common pleas court nearly a year ago. Mrs Gatton's suit seeks a $150 judgment from the city for turning off the water supply at her home on South Main street for non-payment of water and sewer rental.

Mrs. Gatton later paid the water rental but allegedly refused to pay the sewer charge. The $4 judgment sought by the city represents the unpaid balance.

When the case goes to trial a jury will determine whether the city has the right to turn off the water supply to a home for nonpayment of the sewer rental. Both charges are collected together.

LOOT RECOVERED

WPA Worker Held for Theft of Home Furnishings.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Police in suburban Shaker Heights today recovered $25,000 loot taken in 35 burglaries after they arrested Harvey Babcock, 35-year-old Chagrin Falls WPA worker

Babcock, who was to be charged with burglarizing an inhabited residence, said he did not know why he stole rugs, clothing, typewriters and furnishings from homes in the suburb, Police Chief Bert Tilson said. Babcock stole when he was intoxicated, Tilson added.

Tilson credited Detective Lieutenant Harley Benethum and Detective Thomas Walker with solution of the burglaries They traced Babcock through his request at a downtown Cleveland store for a top for a stolen coffee grinder.

Almost all of the loot was found in Babcock's modest home in Chagrin Falls.

Weatherman Deals Out One Nice Day in Each Bad 'Hand.'

To date the weatherman has been consistent in dealing out one spring-like day in each hand of cold, cloudy days. Yesterday spring and sun were in the air: and today was cloudy, rainy, colder with a forecast of rain today and tomorrow.

Yesterday thermometers hit 55, with bright sunshine reminding one that spring was "just around the corner." Today, with overcoats buttoned up, it became a question of which "corner." Early this morning the temperature was 42, gradually rising as the day advanced. Rain began to fall shortly before mid-day.

At noon today the official reading was 55 degrees. The forecast is for continued cloudy skies and some rain tonight and tomorrow, with the temperature falling tomorrow.

GERMANS LOSE 18 WARSHIPS, ALLIES REPORT

Churchill Says Nazis Lose Heavily in Battles Off Norwegian Ports.

rak and the Kattegat will be sunk." He contended that by invading Norway "Hitler has doubled the efficiency of the Allied blockade.

"We have suffered from nothing in our blockade so much as from the accursed (Norwegian) corridor now closed forever.

"We shall take what we want of this Norwegian coast now with an enormous increase in the efficiency of our blockade."

Naval Forces Superior.

Churchill warned that "Hitler has created a whole series of commitments on the Norwegian coast" for which he now will have to fight against the Allies who have "vastly superior naval forces and are able to transport them to the scenes of action more easily than he can."

Churchill told the house that the Norwegians "in their wild and mountainous country" should be able to maintain "vigorous and prolonged resistance" against the German invaders.

"I have been asked in some quarters what is the (British) navy doing," the first lord of the admiralty said, "but the house will not expect me to lift the veil at the juncture."

"If the Norwegian government had not been so very strict and severe in enforcing her neutrality against us," he said, "it would have been very easy to give them more timely and more support than is now possible."

He charged that German invasion had been "long and elaborately prepared" against a number of small countries and it was only in the small hours of Monday that it was learned "that Norway and Denmark had drawn the unlucky numbers in this sinister lottery."

"It is not the slightest use blaming the Allies for not being able to give substantial protection to neutral countries when we are held at arm's length by those countries until they are actually attacked on a scientifically prepared plan by Germany."

He announced that the destroyer Glowworm apparently had been lost Monday morning off the Norwegian coast in a battle with German warships. Her normal complement was 145.

"We can only conclude that the Glowworm was sunk by superior forces of the enemy on Monday morning," Churchill said. "Since then fighting had been conducted night and day."

He said the fleet was cruising "to the south about the level of Bergen" when, on Monday afternoon, "it was continuously attacked by enemy aircraft."

A very heavy bomb fell on the battleship Rodney but her decks, the first lord said, "resisted it."

Attacked 5 Times.

He said the crusier Aurora was attacked unsuccessfully five times while "the destroyed Gurkha accompanying her was hard hit and sank after four and a half hours and the crew rescued."

"The destroyer Zuku sank a German U-boat off the Orkneys," the first lord disclosed.

"There is no reason," said Churchill," why a large portion of the crew of the Glowworm should not have been saved if the ordinary humanity of fighting men had been practiced by the enemy."

Carl J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, said British landing parties had captured both Bergen and Trondheim; important Nazi-held ports on the Atlantic;

British marines landed at the northern iron ore port of Narvik after an initial withdrawal;

Hard-fighting Norwegians recaptured Hamar, the town 60 miles north of Oslo which was the provisional capital until the Germans took it;

King Haakon and Premier Nygaarsvold of Norway proclaimed from their refuge at Elverum continued resistance to the German invasion and rejection of Germany's demand for recognition of a Nazi puppet government;

German bombers caused raging fires in attacks on Brammen, Droebek and Oskarsborg, towns on Oslo fjord;

Tromso, on Norway's northern coast, broadcast an urgent radio appeal for help against German troops being landed from two warships at Aalesund on the southwest.

Reports from several sources credited the 1,596-ton Norwegian mine-layer and training ship Olaf Tryggvason with sinking Germany's 5,400-ton cruiser Emden, possibly in Oslo fjord.

Further evidence that the Norwegians were putting up a grim battle came in a Reuters report that the Norwegian destroyer Aeger sank a German transport off Stavanger yesterday and was in turn sunk by bombing planes.

Norwegian coastal guns were credited with helping the British jam their way through Oslo fjord. These southern batteries were admitted by the Germans yesterday to have caused destruction of the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Bluecher and the 6,000-ton cruiser Karlsruhe.

Stockholm reports said the great battle of the Skagerrak raged throughout the night, with the rumble of cannon shaking houses on the Swedish shore while searchlights swept the skies.

Fishermen from Goteborg, Sweden, set out to hunt survivors and to gather up floating bodies of the uncounted dead.

Naval observers emphasized the achievement of British warships in sweeping through new-laid German minefields in the Skagerrak to reach the narrow Kattegat pathway to the Baltic sea, Germany's lifeline for reinforcements.

Britain announced that heavy damage was inflicted on German bombers which yesterday raided a convoy off Scotland and made the "most murderous" attack yet on oft-bombed Scapa Flow and other places in the Orkney Islands.

A communique said anti-aircraft batteries and pursuit planes brought down four of the Scapa Flow raiders and two of the others, and that three other planes were badly damaged.

Score In Sea War

LONDON—(AP)—Naval losses as detailed by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, before commons today follow:

BRITISH—Destroyer Glowworm, sunk by two German destroyers; destroyer Gurkha, sunk by aerial bombs; battleship Rodney, hit by bomb, seven men injured; battle cruiser Renown, pierced by two German shells; cruiser Aurora, damaged by bombs. He did not mention the destroyers Hunter and Hardy, lost in the battle of Norvik yesterday.

GERMAN — One submarine sunk by destroyer Zulu off the Orkneys; indicated damage to the battleship Scharnhorst; "four German destroyers and a number of German destroyers together with several more U-boats have been destroyed all since Sunday. . . . Nearly a dozen ships, some of large tonnage have been sunk or captured" in the Skagerrak, Kattegat, the North Sea or before Narvik.

Norwegians Help British Repulse German Advance.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—The president of the Norwegian parliament, Carl J. Hambro, announced today that Norway's northern forces now are cooperating fully with British forces against the German invasion.

Hambro, who is in Stockholm on an undisclosed mission, made the announcement after communicating with the Norwegian government, which has established headquarters at Elverum, 20 miles from the Swedish frontier.

A German advance eastward from Narvik, northern Norwegian port, already has been repulsed and Hamar, for a time seat of the government, recaptured, Hambro said.

Instructions to cooperate with the British were issued after the Norwegian northern commander, Colonel Sundlo, had been ordered under arrest for cooperating with the Germans and Major Omdahl appointed to head the Norwegian forces in the Narvik region.

Taken by surprise, German troops attempting to advance along the railway east from Narvik were routed before they had time to form battle lines. Hambro declared the Germans retreated without firing a shot.

Germans Demand Control of All Danube Shipping.

BUDAPEST, Hungary —(U.P.)— The blowing up of three German-bound boats in the Danube in Rumania was followed by reports today that Germany had sent notes to Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, demanding complete control of all Danube shipping and the right to police the river and its shores.

Well informed diplomatic circles here said Hungary was consulting Italy about the notes.

There was no explanation for the explosions that sank the river boat Gheorghe, loaded with 70 tons of corn, and two barges, each carrying 700 tons of oil. All were headed for Germany. Fears had been expressed of Allied sabotage in the river, the life line of German trade with southeast Europe.

Italy's attitude toward German control of the Danube was uncertain but it was believed Benito Mussolini would oppose anything likely to upset the Balkan status quo.

There was another vital factor —the possibility that if Germany took over the Danube, Turkey, ally of Britain and France, would throw open the Dardanelles to Allied warships.

Here's American Army's Newest Fighting Hawk

This is the latest addition to Uncle Sam's fleet of army planes—the BC-3. It is a low-winged monoplane of all metal construction. Fuselage is constructed of welded steel tubes to the rear cockpit. Wing span is 42 feet. Length of the fuselage is a little over 29 feet. Approximate weight of the plane's normal load is 5,865 pounds. It is a two-place combat ship.

CONTINUE TRIAL

More Witnesses Called to Back Inmate's Arson Testimony.

Additional witnesses were called today to support testimony of William Dowty, Ohio State reformatory inmate, that he was hired to fire the Holand Mills in Piqua by his former employer, Gustav Holland, Piqua business man on trial at Troy for arson.

Dowty, who is serving an indeterminate 20 year sentence in the reformatory for his part in the $100,000 fire Dec. 16, revealed yesterday at the trial that he set the plant ablaze with oil soaked sacks under promise of being "taken care of," Associated Press dispatches said.

The prosecution in opening statements said it would attempt to show that Holland wanted the concern destroyed to eliminate competition from his own mill.

Dowty, committed to the reformatory Feb. 26, was taken by guards to the Miami county seat yesterday.

On War Fronts

PARIS—(AP)—A British pursuit plane today crippled a German Heinkel which it intercepted at a high altitude over the English channel near Cap Gris Nez, said a British air general headquarters comminuque.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Lord Stanhope told the house of lords today that the loss of the British warship Glowworm "must be presumed." The Glowworm, a destroyer, was sunk while engaging enemy destroyers of superior force, it was announced.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Crown Princess Martha of Norway has crossed into Sweden, the official British wireless announced today in a news program received in New York.

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — The British, French and Polish ministers to Norway were reported today to have taken refuge in Sweden and will make their temporary headquarters in Stockholm.

BERLIN — (INS) — The new Danish government organized by Prime Minister Stauning in Copenhagen today, it was reported by DNB, official Nazi news agency. The new government consists of Stauning, a radical socialist, and six members of opposition parties.

BURNS FATAL.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Burns suffered when logs in a fireplace ignited clothing proved fatal last night to Kerr W. Rittenhouse, 57, coal and real estate dealer. He was injured two months ago.

SCANDINAVIA TO BE NEW GERMAN AIR RAID BASE?

Nazis Claim Hold on Norway Being Tightened and Can't Be Broken by Allies.

ter having "successfully repulsed" the British destroyer attack on the Norwegian ore port of Narvik, "will not permit herself to be attacked continuously in Denmark and Norway."

The newspaper added that all the possibilities which these areas offer will be employed "for the defense of northern Europe and for the protection of the two occupied countries."

Meanwhile the accumulation of reports on Germany's far-flung Scandinavian operations filled in a startling picture of the Nazi swoop to put Denmark and Norway in a sort of "protective custody" at least so long as the war is on.

DNB, official news agency, reported confiscation of five British steamers loaded with cannon, machine guns and other war materials at Bergen, Norway, adding that their presence there indicated previous intentions by the Allies to land an expeditionary force in Scandinavia.

The high command announced that German troops had occupied the Danish Baltic island of Bornholm without difficulty. The island is about 25 miles from Sweden's southern tip.

It also was reported that certain Norwegian coastal batteries had been taken over for defense and that Norwegian defense forces "readily agreed" to participate in air protection against the allies.

Evidence from quasi-official and authoritative sources indicates that the German movement on Norway and Denmark was not so much a suddenly conceived blow as a plan designed over several days to circumvent what was officially interpreted as a British intention to use the northland as a base for attack against the reich.

The presence of German troops and ships distributed as far north as Narvik, hundreds of miles north of the nearest German port, so quickly on the heels of the first announcement of intent to swing a "protective arm" over Norway and Denmark was noted.

To observers this seemed to be solid evidence that the move was planned perhaps days—rather than hours—in advance.

It appears that at least some of the first troops of occupation were transported to Norway by plane. Ports and cities many miles apart in the two Scandinavian countries were taken almost simultaneously.

This morning's newspapers unanimously featured what they described as a German victory over the British navy's attempts to land forces in Norway.

Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter carried the streamer: "English and French landing fleet destroyed."

A high command communique denied reports that the Norwegian cities of Trondheim and Bergen had been occupied by British forces.

The high command previously had announced that all important Norwegian military bases, including those two cities, were in German hands.

Dewey Wins Votes But Pledge Goes to Opponents in Republican Race.

lose the majority of them on later ballots.

Dewey's opponents have "Trojan-Horsed" him by getting specific pledges of support from some of the GOP delegates elected in Illinois and Nebraska. The primaries, which Dewey won, are merely advisory and do not control the votes of the delegates.

In Illinois, at least six delegates are said to be pledged to Sen. Robert A Taft, Ohio; four to Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich.; and two to Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr., Mass. Dewey probably cannot get these 12 delegates unless he appears to be winning the presidential nomination on the first ballot.

Aside from these pledges, Republican leaders pointed out, the Illinois delegation usually follows the verdict of the "Big Eight"—the eight delegates-at-large, who will be chosen shortly at a state convention. The "Big Eight" will be named by the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Dwight Green, according to custom, and he has shown no particular zest thus far for the nomination of Dewey.

Mrs. Benninghoff Reviews Novel In Evening Program

The whole panoramic view of the iron and steel industry came alive last night before an audience at the First Congregational church when Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff, Cleveland, reviewed the novel "Iron Brew" by Stewart Holbrook under the sponsorship of the Women's Association of the church.

Although the book is carded as a novel, it is more truly a history of the rise of the steel mills and of the steel barons interspersed with anecdotes and characteristic tales of the decade preceding the turn of the century.

In her review Mrs. Benninghoff dealt with the growth of the ore fields in the Lake Superior region, and the development of the great steel corporations, its millionaires, and the city of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Benninghoff was introduced by Miss Helen Hurst, association president. She is a familiar figure to Mansfield audiences, having appeared here this year and last in a series of reviews sponsored by the association.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

EXPERIENCE has taught me never to be surprised at anything Lillian does, so I did not even arch an eyebrow as she took a tape measure, a pencil and a small pad of paper from a hidden pocket in her gown, and held out the pencil and paper to me.

"We have quite a spot of time before we have to get ready for that call on the old girl," she said, "and we might as well earn our keep while we're waiting. If you don't mind, I'd like to do some measuring of these walls. I'll call out the numbers to you and have you put em down, first drawing a rectangle for each flat surface I measure and labeling it A, B, C, D, etc. Do you care whether marks are put on these walls?"

"Not a whit," I returned truthfully, for her preparations had excited me tremendously.

"Then put a corresponding letter on each wall I measure and of which you copy the measurement," she added "Here goes!"

She worked swiftly, surely, dictating the measurements as she took them. When she had finished, my small pad of paper was nearly exhausted, but I had a complete record of measurements of every flat surface in the attic.

Lillian looked at her wrist watch, and made an exasperated gesture.

"We haven't any more time for this now," she said. "We'll have to dress and get going on our errand. And I did so want to check up on these before we went."

"Why?" I asked, although I was fairly sure of her answer.

"Because I'd like to have a place from which we could take off when we talk to the old girl," she said. "If we could tell her that we had discovered certain discrepancies in measurement which made us think there might be a secret passage or stairway, she might—mark you, I say that word doubtfully—she might open her heart—and her mouth—and emit a great thought or two. But as it is, we're handicapped. We can't tell her the truth—"

"What the devil are you girls doing up there?" Harry asked.

"Nothing particular, just killing time," Lillian answered, putting out her hand as she spoke, and taking from mine the papers with the measurements she had just made.

"Then suppose you kill some by coming down and bidding your old man good-bye," he said.

"Oh! are you going now?" Lillian said contritely, hurrying down the stairs. I followed her down the stairs, finding Dicky ranged alongside his friend.

"When did you think I was going, next week sometime?" Harry demanded.

"If I have good luck in rounding up those two chaps, I'll be back tonight," he said. "If not, I'll be here tomorrow. So long!"

"Goodbye, old darling, and good hunting!" Lillian called after him, and Dicky spoke quickly, as if he had been waiting for an opportunity.

"I think Dad is getting a bit nervous for fear you'll be late for that appointment," he said. He wants you to come over to his rooms as soon as you're ready."

"Tell him we'll be there with bells on in 10 minutes," Lillian said, and caught me by the hands. "Come on, Madge," she said. "We'll have to step on it to make good that boast."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, April 12.

Perhaps mediocre progress may best interpret the effect of the planetary operations on this day's doings. There may be some rather surprising or entirely unlooked-for events, with travel, change, removal or new plans and procedures. These may be attended by petty annoyances, disappointments or impediments, begetting minor losses or financial worries, but with sound acumen there may be fair success and pleasant contacts, especially with strangers. The private life is expansive, pleasurable, probably romantic and happy.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year or minor change, with removal, travel, new surroundings, interests and associates. Such reorganization is likely to encounter some small worries, delays and frustrations, with slight loss, either of money or some other substance. Strangers and new places benefit. In the personal life there may be great pleasure, probably sudden romance.

"The Authority on Authorities"

OBLITERATE ALL DOUBT

YOUR partner's mind works somewhat differently from yours. There may be lines of logic you would use to figure out certain facts, but he may not think at all the same way. From his side of the board, he gets a different view of the situation, and may fail to think of some factor which to you is obvious. So, if you can make the reading of the situation easier for him, you should do so, abolishing all doubt if you can.

Fearful bidding by East and West against Smart Aleck South! East should have done something on his first turn, perhaps 1-No Trump, with an ace and a king opposite a vulnerable overall. West should have shown his spades on the second turn, and they should have reached 4-Spades.

West led his heart Q. East properly overplaying the K, and returning the 7 after South held up the A. West took this with the J, then led a third round, knocking out the A South thereupon led the club. East took it and returned the spade 3, so South ran his game.

West thought East should have figured him for diamond tops, since South's bidding a No Trump game, immediately after hearing about North's diamonds, indicated that was his weak spot. East blamed West, however, and was right. After taking the second heart, West should have led his diamond K before leading the third heart. Then, after East got in the lead, he would have been certain to return a diamond and the contract would have been defeated three tricks.

CHAPTER XIII.

She laughed gayly. "If my instructors at the Fairview school ever learned that one of their students was working in a restaurant in Greenwich Village they'd have a nervous breakdown. But that's what I am doing, and Eric, I received five dollars in tips today!"

"Is that such an awful lot?" he asked innocently. "Why I spend four or five times that amount in a day."

"Of course it's a lot," Elaine told him sharply. She instantly regretted her words and laid an apologetic hand on his. "You'll find out what it means if you ever have to earn it."

Before anything more could be said the cab drew up before the brilliantly lighted theater. Looking at the meter, Elaine saw that the charge was one dollar and she regretted they hadn't taken the subway. She said nothing of this to Eric, however, realizing that accustomed as he was to luxury he would not understand the reason for economizing. As she walked into the extravagantly furnished lobby she heaved a tiny sigh. If Mrs. Reardon did as she had threatened, Eric would have to accustom himself to much lower standard of living.

It was one of those nights when the motion picture fans were conspicuous by their absence and there were plenty of seats available. She sat down well towards the front just as the orchestra rose from the pit with trumpets blaring and kettledrums booming Elaine thought they sounded just a little bit tinny in the vast auditorium but in her happiness at having Eric beside her she was more than ready to forgive them this unprofessional lapse. She applauded generously as the symphony orchestra finished playing, and as one brilliant presentation after another was offered from the mammoth stage she rapidly found herself forgetting her troubles.

It was not until the feature picture flashed on the screen that she found her thoughts once more returning to her problems. It was one of those pictures in which the tremenedously wealthy hero sacrificed all for love of a poor maid in his mother's household, and as scene followed scene Elaine felt a growing dismay clutch at her heart. It—why—it was almost the same story that she and Eric were playing in real life! Remembering that Jane had recommended they attend this theater, she wondered if her roommate had already seen the picture.

She stole a glance at Eric's face and discovered that he too was impressed by the picture's peculiar resemblance to their own lives. She wondered vaguely if she should suggest leaving and then decided against it. Although she herself did not care for the picture it was good for Eric to get some idea of what difficulties he would have to face as a poor man if he married her.

But she was trembling when they were once more out on the sidewalk. Just as she had feared, the hero had gone to pieces and, unable to stand the poverty any longer, had returned home to his forgiving but triumphant family. Eric's face was inscrutable as he again helped her into a taxicab, and during the long ride home sat wordlessly beside her. Once or twice she turned and surprised a look of fear in his eyes. She was tempted to speak; anything would be better than this awful silence. But remembering that Jane had said she was too much of an influence over him, she decided to remain quiet. Eric would have to settle the matter for himself.

His manner was preoccupied as the cab again deposited them before her door, but as he took her in his arms the doubt and worry fled from his eyes.

"It was a silly picture, wasn't it, Elaine?" he muttered, pressing tiny kisses to her cheeks.

"Was it?" she questioned, fearfully.

He nodded his head. "It was."

He climed back into the cab and as Elaine ran up the steps she recalled with a frown that she had not asked him for his address. Then as she opened the door she decided that this was unimportant. He would return. Once, during the ride home, she had been afraid that the picture's tragic ending had prompted him to discard the plans they had made. But that doubt had passed from his mind. And she had not made the decision for him!

"Well, did the picture give him a shock?" Jane asked as she stepped into the apartment.

Jane smiled complacently. "Wait until his mother tells him to go on back home. Then we'll find out what he's made of."

In the weeks that followed Elaine thought of Jane's comment often for Eric had not as yet been subjected to the final test. Though he said little, Elaine could tell from his increasingly nervous demeanor that the suspense of waiting for his mother's reply was rapidly whittling away the confidence he displayed their first evening together in New York.

She was more infuriated with the lack of reply than she would have been had Mrs. Reardon simply telegraphed that her decision was final. It was now obvious that the older woman was craftily delaying her answer, trying to ruin Eric's confidence in himself, waiting for him to run out of money, so that when she ordered him home her chances of success would have materially increased.

The more Elaine dwelt upon the bitter struggle she and Mrs. Reardon were waging the more it sickened her. Had she read about it in some novel she would have laughed at it as being utterly fantastic, for in this modern era it hardly seemed possible that a mother would deny her son the right to marry a girl on the grounds that once in her life the girl had drunk too much. And when to this Elaine added the fact that Mrs. Reardon had never troubled herself to learn the truth of the matter, it seemed not only fantastic but ridiculous.

Again she wondered whether she was doing the right thing in encouraging Eric to defy his mother. Had it not been for this recurrent worry she would have terminated the struggle by marrying him, thereby compelling Mrs. Reardon to take some definite action, one way or the other.

She knew with a feeling of dismay that she could gain Eric's consent to this plan. It was the knowledge that he was amenable to her every suggestion that caused her dismay and she could not help wishing he acted more like a man. He had certainly not seemed to possess a will of his own during the last week, lounging around the apartment during all her spare time, constantly in need of encouragement, always seeking advice as to when to eat, where to look for a job, and even as to what type of haircut he should get. Elaine hated to think that Jane had successfully diagnosed his character but as the days passed swiftly by it was becoming increasingly plain that Jane, as far as Eric was concerned, knew what she was talking about.

Elaine was pondering over this one afternoon in the restaurant dressing-room when the door opened and Myrtle poked her blonde-ined head into the room.

"There's a lady outside to see you," she told Elaine with respectful eyes. "She looks lkie a debutante."

"You're out of luck this time," Elaine told her with a little laugh. It was a standing joke in the restaurant that Myrtle stood in awe of the social register and was fondly hoping that some day she would meet one of the "bluebloods." "The only social figures I know are out of town."

Myrtle laughed scoffingly. "Gwan. This dame's got class. A dope would know she's a debutante."

Elaine followed Myrtle out into the restaurant, wondering who the visitor was, and then, remembering that only Jane and Eric knew where she worked, wondered why Jane had decided to come to visit her.

"There!" Myrtle exclaimed triumphantly, pointing a finger at the golden-haired girl who sat at a table near the rear of the room. "If she ain't a debutante, then where did she get those high-hat clothes?"

Elaine could have told her that any one who worked could buy those same "high-hat" clothes, but realizing that Myrtle wanted to believe the girl was a debutante she said nothing. Her brow furrowed into tiny lines as she walked over to the table. The girl's face was vaguely familiar, but for the life of her she could not remembers just who she was.

But if she did not remember the girl, the girl remembered her, for when Elaine halted before the table she looked up with a smile.

"Hello, Miss Warburton," she greeted, scornful eyes belying the friendliness of her smile. "Mrs. Reardon sent me here to talk to you."

"Mrs. Reardon?" Surprised, Elaine looked at the girl, then suddenly remembered who she was. But why had Eric's mother sent her secretary to see her? Why had she sent her clear across the continent to deliver a message which could more easily have been sent by wire?

Helen Wortarski laughed at the expression of surprise still on Elaine's face. "Of course you know I've come because of Eric's telegram. Mrs. Reardon wants to know what your price is."

The terse words came as a complete shock to Elaine and she felt herself suddenly boiling with rage. Hot words sprang to her lips but remembering that Helen was paid to deliver messages for the older woman, she checked herself. There was no sense in venting her feelings upon this girl.

Her cheeks were burning with anger but when she spoke her voice was even and calm. "Mrs. Reardon is wasting her time if she thinks she can pay me to leave Eric alone," she told the girl. "I love Eric and I'm going to marry him."

Helen shrugged her shoulders. "Mrs. Reardon is willing to give you as much as fifty thousand dollars if you promise to let Eric alone. That's a lot of money, Elaine. It would make you as independent as you would be if you married Eric."

Elaine surveyed the girl coldly, grimly retaining her composure. "Mrs. Reardon could offer me her entire fortune and still I would answer the same way. I happen to love Eric for himself, not his money."

Helen slapped her hand angrily on the table. "Oh, for heavens sakes, Elaine, be sensible! Eric would never marry you if his mother told him she would disinherit him. He likes his comfort and luxuries too much. But suppose he did marry you, what would that get you? You'd still have to work, you'd still have to go without things, and, worse still, you'd have to sit by and watch Eric go to pieces. Your marriage would end in divorce as soon as Eric found out how hard it is to earn a living. This way you get something for yourself, and, if you really do love Eric, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you did what was best for him."

"I am thinking of what's best for him," Elaine said stubbornly. "Can't his mother see that marriage would be the best thing for him? It would teach him responsibility, it would make a man of him. Mrs. Reardon should know that, but if she doesn't choose to listen, I'm not going to worry about her. Eric owes his mother a lot, of course, but he also owes something to me, and since he's asked me to marry him I'm going to do so."

Helen shook her head from side to side. "He won't, Elaine. I won't let him."

"You won't let him?" Surprised and puzzled by Helen's manner, Elaine stared at the girl. She walked closed to the table. "I don't see what business it is of yours."

Helen's eyes were cold and hard and her lips were tight. "It is my business, Elaine, because I happen to want Mrs. Reardon's money for myself. And I'm going to marry Eric to get it."

Stunned by the girl's softly spoken words, Elaine at first did not believe she had heard correctly, but as her eyes rested on Helen's coldly composed face she knew that Helen had not only spoken them but meant them. And suddenly she knew what had prompted Mrs. Reardon's objections to the match. Helen had been responsible for them; Helen who had the older woman's confidence; Helen who was poor and wanted the Reardon millions for herself! Elaine glanced horrified at her. How could she, how could any girl be so despicable?

"So you see," Helen added, fidgeting beneath Elaine's scornful eyes, "you would be foolish not to accept the check while you can get it. Mrs. Reardon didn't think of offering it to you; it was my idea. It may sound funny, but I like you, Elaine, and I happen to know that you really do love Eric, and so I thought it would be only decent to repay you for losing him and, at the same time, helping me. You see, had you not gotten yourself into that school-girl scrape you would have been married to him by now and I would never have had this chance. As it is, I can marry Eric any time I want to, but since you would be losing the man you love I thought it would be only right for me to give you something in exchange for him. That's my motto, Elaine, live and let live."

"I don't want to talk about it any more." Elaine said coldly, turning away. Helen's words had whipped her up into an anger she had never before known, but she couldn't make a scene. The restaurant was crowded and if she argued wth Helen it would only infuriate Mr. Graves.

16 SCIENTISTS

to amaze world with great discovery about

CONSTIPATION

Tests at world-famous hospital reveal how Nature's own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements can be produced

Get relief from headaches, indigestion and nervousness due to Constipation. Then feel peppier—keener of mind. Brighter eyes.

AFTER months of intensive tests in one of the world's most famous hospitals—16 scientists have discovered sensational facts about an IDEAL "daily" treatment for constipation—

It has been definitely proven one of the chief causes of constipation is lack of moisture in the colon. Waste matter then becomes caked, dry, hard and difficult to move on. Constipation often follows with its headaches, dull eyes, sallow muddy skin, and you "tire easily."

Tests showed that the taking of many cathartics, laxatives, and harsh "roughage" products often made this condition worse.

SUCCESS AT LAST!

But these clever men of science found a way to ACTUALLY PRODUCE NATURE'S OWN GENTLE PLEASANT BOWEL ACTION. Simply take a little daily dose of healthful Kruschen, (world-famous formula), in a glass of water.

Kruschen now comes in effervescent form—sparkling—"bubbling"—and makes a most pleasant tasting drink. Kruschen keeps waste matter in the colon moist and soft and enables it to be gently expelled from the body. No nausea! No griping! No violence! Truly an IDEAL treatment for more gentle, complete "daily" elimination of harmful poisons, acids and waste. ALSO, a splendid mild antacid and kidney diuretic. Inexpensive!! A jar that lasts WEEKS costs only a trifle. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold by drugstores thruout the world—Kruschen must be good and do the work! Made in U.S.A.

Now comes in delightful, pleasant tasting "bubbling" form!

Nuts Offer Nutritious Food

By ALICE LYNN BARRY.

ALL FOOD authorities claim nuts have a food value which should give them a more important place in the daily diet. Potato, apple and celery, and potato and celery salads are especially good when garnished with nuts, as is a fruit salad. Nuts can also be used for sandwich spreads. Here are some ideas that may be useful now that sandwich and picnic time is approaching.

Moisten one-half cup minced celery, mixed with one-fourth cup minced nutmeats, with mayonnaise. Use with wholewheat bread. Grate four ounces Swiss cheese and mix with equal quantity chopped walnuts, then season to taste with salt and pepper, before pounding to a paste with one-fourth cup butter beaten to a cream.

For a spread that can be kept until required for use, put two ounces walnut meats, four ounces pitted dates and four ounces seedless raisins through the food mincer. Stir in the strained juice of one-half lemon and one-half orange. Store in a well-covered jar. For another spread mix three ounces cream cheese to a paste with a tablespoon lemon juice. Stir in four ounces minced, salted almonds. Add scant tablespoon minced pimiento. It's delicious with thin brown bread.

Almond Biscuits require creaming four ounces butter with eight ounces sugar. Beat in one egg mixed with a gill of milk. All 12 ounces flour, four ounces ground almonds, three level teaspoons baking powder and a teaspoon of salt after ingredients have been sifted. Make into a soft dough, using more flour if necessary. Roll out one-fourth-inch thick, cut in rounds, bake in moderately hot oven for 10 minutes.

Walnut Bread.

Walnut Bread is made with one cup chopped walnuts, cup confectioners suger, four cups flour, teaspoon salt, two cups milk, one egg, four teaspoons baking powder. Sift flour, salt and baking powder into bowl. Add sugar. Dilute egg with milk; stir into flour, then stir in nuts. Place in two buttered tins. Stand 20 minutes in a warm place. Bake 30 minutes or until ready in a moderate oven. Keep at least 24 hours before cutting.

Nut Cutlets make a nice luncheon dish. Use four ounces of any nuts preferred, two ounces fresh bread crumbs Make a white sauce with a gill of milk, an ounce of butter, and an ounce of flour. Other ingredients required are: small piece of cooked onion, one-half teaspoon chopped parsley, few drops of lemon juice, pepper, salt, cayenne and tomato sauce. Mince nuts and grate onion. Make the white sauce Then add nuts, onion, bread crumbs, parsley, seasoning to the sauce, reheat and bind well. Now form the mixture into cutlet-shaped pieces. Coat well with egg and bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat Put a small piece of macaroni on each cutlet, garnish with fried parsley springs. Serve the tomato sauce separately.

Advocates Spanking Child

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

You who have been reading this column have observed that I advocate spanking the child under four or five years of age—not the older child—as a means of teaching inhibitions in respect to safety, even in respect to care of property and others' rights.

But those who spank — and practically all parents do, whether they believe in it or not—do so, as a rule, without any definitely thought-out plan.

Provided you do not believe in spanking, be ashamed of yourself to be so weak in character as not to be able to stand by your convictions. If you do believe in spanking, you should avoid some things.

Don't spank just to make yourself feel better for the moment. Perhaps 90 per cent of spanking is for no other reason. You will not so punish a child unless you have, preferably with both parents agreeing, planned long beforehand the type of instances for which you would spank.

Make It Immediate.

Don't spank unless it can be immediate. If the child of two has run out into the street, it is too late to spank him after you have carried him into the house. It may even be too late when you have captured him.

It is of no use to punish a runaway child after he has been found. Merely bring him back. Show him exactly where the deadline is—the gate, stone, tree, pole or mark on the sidewalk. Then be right on hand every time he has the opportunity to cross that line, in order to give him immediate pain if and when he does. Don't punish him for being caught; connect the pain with crossing the line.

And how absurd it is to punish a litlte child, after arriving home, for bad conduct at the grocer's! How stupid the tattling mother and brutal father of the young child who is punished in the evening for an offense committed at noon! Many an innocent infant never knows what the spanking is for. It must be immediate to be effective.

To get best results from bodily pain with the tot of two, the spanking should immediately follow the first act to be prevented, and every one thereafter.

In most instances, however, the child over three or four should not get pain on the first offense. The offense should be defined and pain for the second offense announced then and certainly applied thereafter. After the child has obtained pleasure from doing something several times, think of the degree and frequency of pain it will take to keep him from repeating the act again Anything which promises him more pleasure than pain he will do. He is unlikely to avoid the act if he is spanked only occasionally for it, getting satisfaction for the deed at numerous other times. There must be no exceptions.

To repeat, effective spanking must be immediate, upon the first offense—certainly upon the second—and without exception. Therefore, you would not use spanking or any other kind of bodily pain to prevent such habits as thumb-sucking, nail-biting, bed-wetting, masturbation.

"To Spank or Not to Spank: When and How," is the title of one of the 15 pamphlets I have written on practical ways of dealing with the baby and young child. You may get a list of these pamphlets, together with a list of books on the young child, by writing me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Noses Often Cause Woes

By MME. QUI VIVE

If you have a satisfactory, handsome, up and coming nose be grateful. A nose that does not qualify for good appearance is a beauty hardship, especially to the young person who has a habit of scrutinizing her features, not finding them to her liking. We'll say this to comfort her troubled heart: the mirror exaggerates and our own defects are more terrible to us than they are in the eye of the beholder, who probably doesn't notice them at all

The nose that is speckled with blackheads is a trial to any femme, no matter what her age may be. To get rid of them, friction in rich lather. Select a bland soap. It's not a bad plan to use Daddy's shaving stick. While you're at it, you might as well include the entire facial area and give the skin surface a rousing cleansing.

Remove the suds with warm water Dip a washcloth in water fairly hot and hold close to the skin, repeating this treatment six or seven times Moist heat eases out the atmospheric dust that has clogged the pores, softens the wax-like plugs that have formed because the sebaceous oil has become solid. Do that at bedtime. In the morning use tepid water, no soap. Dry gently and give the flesh a dry cleaning with a moist cloth on which you have poured a little eau de cologne. Keep away from the eyes

Treatment for a shining nose is the same as for the one that carries black polka dots The alcoholic content in the eau de cologne acts as an astringent. Diet habits that are not according to health rules are often responsible for an excessively oily skin. Eat more vegetables and fruits, less pastries, and cut down on butter. Drink tomato and orange juice.

A red nose will improve if it is filmed over once a day with ointment of zinc oxide Circulation isn't scuttling along fast enough; outdoor exercise will help to erase the misplaced blush

Be fussy about the powder you use. It should be as soft and fine as the fluff on a butterfly's wing.

MISJUDGE WEATHER

AMHERST, N. S. —(U.P.)— The geese seem to have mixed their dates a little. Flocks have been seen in the vicinity of Amherst ever since Feb. 28, but they have not been able to stop on the local marshes that still are covered with ice and snow. The geese have headed toward the open water of the Northumberland Strait.

Want "in" on next year's "Big News" Now?

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU can figure it out for yourself from what you see in daily traffic and what you hear when the talk turns to automobiles.

Buick's pacing the pack. Has been for several years.

It called this year's style turn a year ago. It set current performance standards in '38 with its Dynaflash engine. It still leads the crowd for riding qualities with its BuiCoil Springing, now in its third year.

So where's a more logical place to look for next year's "big news" than in this year's big and roomy Buick?

It may be smoother engines. Buick is the only car that now balances power plants after assembly.

Coil springs all around may come. Buick's never need lubrication, are practically indestructible, and even cut down skid-risks.

Maybe it'll be heavier frames — Buick has the heaviest of any car of its price. Or maybe many of the "extra touches" Buick so freely applies—safety-latches on rear doors and Two-Way Direction Signals with automatic cut-off.

You get all of these things now in Buick.

Get them with the plus of Buick quality of materials and workmanship—get them at a price that suggests a six instead of an eight.

So it's easy to start enjoying future "new features" right now.

Just go try a Buick. Look it over, inside and out. And get the prices.

Even if you've been buying in the lowest-price field you'll find it takes less than you think to step up to a Buick. Prices begin at $895 ★delivered at Flint, Mich.; transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

You get a "Good Deal" Two Ways from Your Buick Dealer

A good "deal" when it comes to old-car allowances—and a whale of a lot of automobile in your new Buick. See your dealer and find out for yourself.

New Dealers Believe President Forced to Run Again

PRIMARY VOTE MAKES THIRD TERM DEMAND

Impossible for Roosevelt to Refuse Re-nomination Leaders Contend.

INFLUENCE OF WAR FELT

Garner Adherents to Press Texan's Campaign With Renewed Vigor.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — New Dealers in Congress contended today that President Roosevelt's top-heavy lead in midwestern primaries makes it virtually impossible for him to refuse a third term nomination.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), a third term advocate, told reporters:

"The primaries in Wisconsin, Illinois and Nebraska indicate two things—that there is quite a strong movement toward the Republican party, and, more conclusively, that Roosevelt is stronger than his party."

Norris said that the primary results, coupled with the spread of the European war, "will drive all elements of the Democratic party who want to elect a president to Roosevelt's support."

"The president must accept whether he likes it or not," he added.

Won't Take "No."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) expressed a similar opinion, declaring that "the people won't take 'no' for an answer" to the third term question. Another administration senator, Murray (D-Mont), asserted "sentiment for the president is so powerful it would be very difficult for him to escape running again."

But Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), reiterated his belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not run.

"Any president can renominate himself," Wheeler said. "But the president is too politically-wise to let the office holders and his many admirers jockey him into a position where he would have everything to lose and nothing to gain from the standpoint of his place in history or his own personal happiness."

Supporters of Vice-President Garner, over whom Mr. Roosevelt rolled up a 6-to-1 advantage in the Illinois presidential preferential primary this week, conceded nothing.

E. B. Germany and Clara Driscoll, the vice-president's managers, declared that the Illinois result was not unexpected because Garner had no organized support against the Kelly-Nash-Horner forces supporting Mr. Roosevelt. They said Garner's campaign would be pressed with increasing vigor.

HITS FARM POLICY.

ZANESVILLE — (U.P.) — Rep. Dudley White, Norwalk, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, charged here last night that restrictive farm policies and the reciprocal trade program of the administration are incompatible.

"Secretary Wallace issued state edicts telling the American farmer what he cannot raise," White said. "At the same time Hull (Secretary of State Cordell Hull) issues treaties letting down the gates to floods of farm products from abroad.

"It would require 25,000,000 acres of land in this country to produce farm products which have been shipped in from abroad in one year."

Four Killed As Guns Blaze In Colorado Feud

MONTE VISTA, Colo.—(INS)—A mother and 10 children died today and her 22-year-old son was near death as the result of a gun fight in which three men were killed as a bloody climax to a feud of long-standing between Rio Grande county ranchers.

The death-dealing gunplay occurred on a highway just outside the ranch of Pat Maes, 50, sheep rancher 12 miles south of Monte Vista, Colo. Maes, peace officers said, admitted slaying his brother-in-law, Manuel Ortega, 40; Deputy Sheriff Raymond Martinez, 38, and Edward Dominquez, 30.

Police Chief Max Richardson and Sheriff C. P. Phillips said Maes told them he shot down the three men after his wife, 44, and their son, Frank, first had been shot by Deputy Sheriff Martinez when the two parties alighted from automobiles and an argument ensued. Mrs. Maes died today.

Seven large naval observatory clocks, now on display in the Western Union office here, will give Mansfielders some idea as to the difference in time in Mansfield and six other cities and countries throughout the world. One clock gives the correct Eastern Standard, or Mansfield time, while the other six are set to show the hour in San Francisco, Rome, Paris, London, Die de Janeiro, Brazil and Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mansfield is not without its representation at the Metropolitan opera in Cleveland this week. John Grabler, well-known local vocalist appeared as a priest in Monday night's performance of Aida and tonight he will be in the chorus at the presentation of Carmen.

Somebody played an awfully mean trick on Richard Sparks, 566 Arlington avenue. Sparks, a student at Senior High school, rented two public address systems from the Smart Studio for use at the school building on Feb. 10. After they were used Sparks locked them in a room with the understanding they were to be returned immediately to Smart. A month later the studio called and asked for them. Both sets were gone. One of them was located on April 5 and returned, but the other is still missing. And it is valued at $65.

No one in the audience could have guessed it at the performance of "Tobacco Road" Tuesday night, but one of the players was doing one of those "the play must go on" stunts. John Barton, who played the title role, and who had been ill for days with a bad tooth, had the incisor pulled between the matinee and evening show. His face was still "stiff" from the novocaine and the after-pains had set in by the time the curtain went up. If he lisped a little on the word "Fuller," it was because his face was too stiff to ennunciate his "fs" and because wind whistled right through the space where the tooth had been.

RUBBER UNION VOTES STRIKE ON PAY SCRAP

Use of Speed-Up System Hit In Grievances Listed By Committee.

(By United Press)

AKRON—Picket lines formed today at the General Tire & Rubber company's Akron plant, where a strike was ordered by the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO).

The strike vote, taken at a meeting late yesterday, was 640 in favor of 150 negative or void. Failure of negotiations on pay adjustments and working agreements was given by the union as the factor leading to the strike.

A list of 25 grievances was announced by the union's negotiating committee. All grievances were in reference to wages or purported use of the "speed up" system.

The union charged that the company had violated the "spirit" of an agreement made last June 12, which expires June 12, 1940. The agreement carries a clause that no lockouts, strikes or work shutdowns shall occur during its life.

Dispute Pledge.

The agreement also contained a pledge by both parties that disputes must be negotiated within 10 days of their inception unless delayed by mutual consent.

Seven members of the union's executive board, after hearing the negotiating committee report, spoke in favor of striking. Approval of the URWA international was expected by local union officials tdoay.

H. D. Dawson, international representative, conferred with members of the executive commitee.

Offices Clear.

The company's offices were not picketed. The question of whether maintainance crews will be admitted had not been settled.

The union claimed 95 per cent membership among General Tire's 1200 production workers.

Joseph Childs, General local president, estimated that immediately before the strike, the plant production was down more than 80 per cent. He said 1,100 of the approximately 1,200 employed were idle.

The dispute came to a head when 150 workers in the heavy tire division walked out, charging that work and pay adjustments either had not been negotiated or had been too long in negotiation.

Union members charged that a permanent rate was posted for a tire which had been under production under a temporary rate, and that the permanent rate was lower than the rate on similar tires in other Akron plants.

A similar disagreement brought the threat of a strike a year ago but union officials advised members to return to work at that time.

The strike was the first in the Akron rubber industry since May, 1938, when Goodyear Tire & Rubber company employes were out for a short time.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

They All Dance By.

Eddy Duchin is popular with the chroniclers of Broadway because he has charm and as many gags up his sleeve as Milton Berle. He knows most of the celebrities columnists write about, and a few things about most of them that columnists don't know—so let's let him write a column:

By EDDY DUCHIN

Time dances, not marches, on in the world I know. I meet America with its spirit up and its hair down, the carefree and careless proletariat, the part of the world at the part of the day that it's having more darn fun!

A good time, I know, has to involve a lot of sham and pretense and make-believe, but my piano and I never stopped to figure out why.

All I know is what I see on the dance floor and hear at the tables when the music stops, and believe me when I say that America will be all right just as long as it keeps on dancing and just as long as the music plays!

They all dance by and I never forget a smiling face or a dancing foot. It's a cavalcade of happiness as I see it and I'm mighty lucky to be playing the accompaniment. Yes, they all dance by:

Tallulah Bankhead always has a much smarter crack on the tip of her tongue than any line from any play in which I've seen her. . . . Cole Porter says he's the manufacturer and I'm one of the salesmen, and if he ever requests a song, it's usually one not by Cole Porter. . . . Babs Hutton always asked for Some Day I'll Find You" and now we play it before she asks. I wonder who she's looking for, but she deserves to find him soon.

Noel Coward makes me feel self-conscious and yet he's the most gracious man I know. He even laughs at my stories. If there could be a second Noel Coward, it could only be Noel, much older. . . . The DeMarcos are the finest looking thing my piano's winked at. . . .

Jack Roper, the fighter, once yelled at me over the music, "I like my racket better. I'm not on so long" I'd seen him box Joe Louis the month before. . . .

* * *

Bing Crosby is Mr. Natural. He's so nice to everybody it's a shame his race horses can't be as nice to him. . . . Paul Whiteman, to me, is still the King of Jazz. . . .

Dorothy Lamour sang with our band a long time ago and I told her then she ought to do something with that figure. A scenario and a sarong must have overheard me! . . .

Anita Louise plays the harp and when she does I know exactly what heaven is going to look like. . . . Sergei Rachmaninoff gave me my biggest thrill when he said he came to hear my arrangements. . . . Our band discovered Kenny Baker and he sang with us for a while. But he could sing only ballads, so we parted company. Wonder what ever happened to him?

At a White House party Eleanor Roosevelt once asked us to play a Virginia Reel, but she reneged when Elliot squawked, "Aw, Mom, don't crab the party!" . . . O. O. McIntyre used to kid me and say that my hands reached to me knees and then he would humorously question my ancestry—trying to make a monkey out of me?

Even those who can't dance, dance by . . . I can usually spot bakers—they're set, quiet, and a little bit fat and pompous. . . . Brokers are more playboyish, less dignified. . . . I think show people know best how to have a good time, because they know best how to give one. . . . Debutantes are getting hardier. Parker Avenue is holding its liquor better these nights. The liquor is better, too.

The late John Wanamaker was one of my first supporters. Once he presented me with a piano. With it came a note which read, "Please patronize our piano-tuning department. Business is punk!" When the piano needed tuning, I called him. He came and did it personally!

Sometimes I feel Jean Harlow is still in the middle of the dancing crowd, waiting to hear "Star Dust."

I went to Jose Iturbi for lessons once and after the third one he beautifully fibbed, "I can't teach you anything. I'm the one who is learning."

I still have Eleanor Powell's wire signed, "Your most ardent fan." . . . Mickey Rooney played the drums in my band one night. When I told him I thought he was terrif, he came back the next day with five songs of his own—and not bad, either. . . . Admiral Richard E. Byrd spoke to me from Antarctica and said they were keeping warm with our recording of "Ol' Man Mose."

Harvey Gibson was shagging with the jiterburgs at the Fair last October. . . . Betty Grable is a dream dancing. . . . I once kidded Jimmy Foxx for hogging the ball on a double play. That night he stopped at the bandstand and balled me out for hogging the piano.

George Gershwin was my idol. If I don't get his part when they make a picture of his life, I'll be the most disappointed guy in the world. . . .

I never saw Peggy Hopkins Joyce dance with more than one man at a time! . . . Brenda Frazier is a nice girl—a real nice girl.

Madeline Carroll is the most beautiful woman I've ever seen—she ought to get an Oscar just for her face. . . . Hedy Lemarr is the runner-up. . . . Carmen Miranda is learning to dance the North American with a South American accent.

I sat at Jesse Livermore's table one night and he told me he was waiting for a 'phone call which would tell him whether he made or lost a million and a quarter. The phone call came. He returned to the table with a smile and shrug. He said just two words: "Lost it."

Lily Pons is the finest arrangement Andre Kostelanetz could possibly make. . . . Deanna Durbin sat down next to me at the piano one night and somehow I had one bar left over when the orchestra finished the number.

Peter Duchin, (My Son, My Son!) isn't much of a dancer but what do you want? He's only two!

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It happened at a small, exceedingly star-studded dinner. Norma Shearer and George Raft were among the twinklers present.

Since he became Norma's steady company, George has been exposed to large shots of culture, an item which concerned him little in his pre-Shearer days. Among the places Norma has taken him is the Huntington Library, Pasadena's famed center of art and literature.

At one point in the evening George, the ex-hoofer and ex-pugilist, found himself launched on a serious discourse on art. He talked of "traditionals" and "moderns," of classicists and neo-classicists, of Picasso and Sir Joshua Reynolds and Gainsborough and Whistler, and he finally talked himself out, leaving a lull in the conversation.

Through the deep silence broke finally the voice of Barbara Stanwyck, across the table.

"George," said the earthy Stanwyck, "do you mind if I say 'Aw, nuts!'?"

The South seems to have won the Civil war at the box-office.

"Gone With the Wind" is headed apparently for an all-time high gross, while "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" isn't measuring up to hopes held for it.

There's a tradition in the movies that no picture about Lincoln can be a real hit, and it must be true because the Raymond Massey picture is the finest Lincoln picture yet delivered.

When that publicity outfit nominated Janice Logan as the "best undressed girl" in pictures (to Miss Logan's embarrassment), they done Ellen Drew wrong. This was Ellen's schedule for three days running during production of "Destiny":

5:15 a. m.—Arise, bathe, DRESS, breakfast.

9:00 a. m.—Hair done, face made up, costumed and ready to work. UNDRESS and "go to bed" on the set where Dr. Basil Rathbone talks to her in his best professional manner.

12:10 p. m.—Get up, DRESS, go to lunch.

1:10 p. m.—Back on the set, UNDRESS and return to "bed."

6:10 p. m.—Out of "bed" again, DRESS and go home.

8:30 p. m.—After dinner, UNDRESS and go to bed to study next day's lines.

Miss Drew is grateful to the zipper people.

AIR AND STEEL ISSUES SHOVED UP TWO POINTS

Traders Inspired by Belief British Navy Smashed German Blitzkrieg.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Inspired by belief the British navy smashed the German attempt at a blitzkrieg in Norway, traders shoved aircraft and steel stocks around 2 points higher for a time today.

It was almost completely a war market, with boardrooms paying scant attention to domestic developments. There was a jump of more than 6 cents in the trading price of the British pound.

Leaders among advancing shares included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, Chrysler, General Motors, American Smelting and Westinghouse.

Bonds improved. Commodities were mixed. The London market was strong. Paris and Amsterdam were fairly steady.

Interest in shipping shares was vitally affected by President Roosevelt's proclamation under the neutrality act forbidding United States flag ships from entering Scandinanvian parts.

There also was speculation concerning the probability of extension of the combat zone into the Near East.

Followers of heavy industry stocks received optimistic reports of new steel orders impending.

Dogs Thrive On Prunes In Diet, Test Discloses

BERKELEY, Calif. — (INS) — Five fat little fox terriers romping about the University of California campus have proven the worth of a discovery which will be of considerable interest to all dogs.

Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan, chairman of the university's home economics department, reported that the five dogs had been fed with dry dog food to which 10 per cent of ground prunes had been added by weight. After nine months, she said, the prune-fed dogs weighed 33 pounds more than others to which ordinary rations had been fed, and the prune-fed animals were healthier.

The bandits sped to Hartford where they were chased through a park by a lone policeman in a squad car. The latter abandoned the pursuit when fired upon with a machine gun.

SNOW PRECIOUS.

Planning a Garden?

Good Lawns Necessitate Nothing More Than Work

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
(AP Feature Service Writer)

THERE has been so much research on lawns recently that a good lawn is more a matter of effort than of accident.

Follow these rules, say experts, and a good lawn is almost a certainty:

LAST IN A SERIES

SOIL PREPARATION—Spade or plow to depth of 8 to 10 inches. If soil is very light and sandy add good topsoil. Grade surfaces well; almost imperceptible depressions cause poor drainage that kills some grasses. It helps most soils to work in liberal quantities of manure or peat moss and it usually pays to add superphosphate to stimulate root growth. Fertilizers should be worked to a depth of two inches a week or two before seeding.

SEEDING—Select seeds that grow best in your region. Kentucky blue grass likes more lime than fescue and bent grasses, and it grows well in most areas. Bent thrives in northern climates, but doesn't do well in midsummer heat. Chewing fescue is for shady places. Your dealer knows the best seed or mixture to use locally. In most areas fall seeding is considered best but spring seeded lawns do well, too.

MAINTENANCE—Best time for watering an established lawn is early morning; mid-afternoon sprinkling is necessary if roots are shallow and the weather hot or if the soil dries rapidly.

FERTILIZING—If possible determine the soil's acidity and the elements it lacks. Most seed dealers will make this test. In general, abundant nitrogen is needed spring and fall. If too acid, the soil needs lime occasionally. Phosphorous is needed, especially on new lawns, for root growth. An occasional top dressing of manure or peat moss will supply organic matter.

Tomorrow — A new garden fe... ...aph."

TIRED, NERVOUS PEOPLE MAY HAVE SIMPLE ANEMIA
Simple Anemia (deficient quality of the blood) develops so gradually, in many people, that their blood is greatly impaired before they realize what is the matter.
Without enough hemoglobin to carry a plentiful supply of oxygen and other essential materials, your blood slowly starves your body into an apathetic state. The physical resistance of such a body is lowered, making us more susceptible to disease.
Fortunately, there is a simple way to fight simple Anemia—with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They contain iron which the hemoglobin in your red blood cells must have to carry vital, life-giving oxygen and other essentials from your lungs to every part of your body.
If you look pale, always feel tired, are easily upset and seem generally run-down, try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Don't let simple Anemia get a strangle hold on you. But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Williams Pink Pills—49c at your druggist.

NORTH COUNTRY, SOUTH LOCALES FOR NEW NOVELS

Library Announces List of New Books to Be Placed in Circulation Monday.

A novel of the Northwest in the Columbia river country, and a problem novel with a Southern plantation for a locale, are found on this week's fiction additions to the Public library. The books will be ready for circulation Monday.

SWIFT FLOWS THE RIVER by Nard Jones is a novel of the opening of the Northwest. Young Caleb Paige lived in a small settlement on the bank of the Columbia river. The Cascades rapids grew with the development of the territory along the river and the expansion of the steamboat traffic. Exciting days along the river, with an early massacre by the Indians in which his parents were killed, and later, the discovery of gold by Caleb and two friends, filled the life of reckless Captain Caleb Paige.

THIS SIDE OF GLORY by Gwen Bristow is a twentieth century novel of a Southern plantation by this able author. Eleanor Upjohn found after she married Kester Larne that they had been brought up under standards which conflicted. Only through much sacrifice and mutual sorrow do they come to understand each other.

WALK LIKE A MORTAL by Dan Wickenden is the story of a seventeen-year-old boy, Gabe MacKenzie, who sees the break-up of his home and his parents' marriage. A vivid picture of American life, this novel portrays warm, living people.

Other fiction on this week's list includes:

A STRICKEN FIELD by Gelhorn; THEIR OWN COUNTRY, Hobart; HEAD OF THE HOUSE, Lutz; AN OZARK ANTHOLOGY edited by Randolph.

THE ART OF LIVING by Andre Maurois is a spirited discussion of the many sides of life and the conduct suitable to the attainment of happiness in each. "The book combines good sense, experience, recollections of readings and a quality of imaginative wisdom." The tone is sympathetic and practical revealing the author's sincere desire to help his fellow beings.

INSIDE EUROPE by John Gunther, the 1940 War Edition, is a complete revision of a very popular and informative book. Mr. Gunther has written two-thirds of the book from direct evidence which he personally observed.

KEY LARGO by Maxwell Anderson is a rapidly moving tragedy which tells the story of King McCloud, an American who takes part in the Spanish Civil war. King loses his faith along with his illusions and finally achieves a finer faith in the end.

Other non-fiction:

FRENCH YELLOW BOOK: DIPLOMATIC DOCUMENTS (1938-1939) published by authority of the French government.

SUCCESSFUL LETTER WRITING by Hower & Hower; MARCH OF FASCISM, Raushenbush; BE YOUR OWN GARDENER, Patterson; COWBOY DANCES, Shaw; HANDBOOK OF PHOTOGRAPHY, Henney and Dudley; EAT AND REDUCE, Lindlahr; I REMEMBER THE LAST WAR, Hoffman; DANGEROUS THOUGHTS, Hogben; WHICH WAY, DEMOCRACY?, Parsons; WHY BABIES, Campbell.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Both of the books recommended this week are of interest to middle-sized readers. The first describes certain events in the life of Benjamin Franklin as seen by his pet mouse, Amos. The other is a family story, the adventures of six children and their parents in Washington and other cities.

BEN AND ME, by Robert Lawson—Amos lived in Benjamin Franklin's fur cap and, according to his story, it was he who really caused most of the things to happen which made Mr. Franklin famous. The illustrations by this well-known creator of lovable characters are as interesting as the story.

THE VALE FAMILY, by Hill and Maxwell—The six Vale children were much like any other six brothers and sisters in 1893. When Caroline went to school in a room where there were two other Caroline's she changed her name to Gwendolyn. They all went to the seashore at Cape Cod for the summer. They even went to the World's Fair in Chicago. Their adventures never stop happening until the last page is finished.

GLAD OF ARREST

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Patrolman Andrew Leist was slowly escorting a Newark youth's auto into city prison after an arrest for speeding. A rear wheel dropped off and the car bounced to the street.

Thinking what might have happened had he been speeding then, the youth profusely thanked Leist for arresting him. Commenting the lad had learned "a pretty good object lesson," Leist released him.

HUNTING WILL

WOOSTER —(AP)— Clairvoyants have been called to assist in finding the $25,000 will left by Lewis Cooper in December, 1938.

A Wooster attorney drafted the document, which was deposited in a safety deposit box—and that was the last seen of it. One prospective beneficiary hired spiritualists to hold seances in a futile effort to unearth clues.

DIG DEEPER IN GEORGIA PROBE OF 'TERRORISM'

Prosecutors Renew Inquiry After Jury Indicts Ten On KKK Rolls

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga. — Prosecutors encouraged by flogging indictments agamste 10 on Klu Klux Klan rolls drew further reports of terrorism from uneasy witnesses yesterday in a drive to find the whip-wielder who beat a suburban barber to death the night of March 7.

While Fulton county officers rounded up the indicted men, including two deputy sheriffs, Solicitor General John A. Boykin expressed belief the inquiry which had disclosed two kidnapings and 23 floggings about Atlanta in the last three years was "only scratching the surface."

Before returning the indictments the jury questioned Imperial Wizard James A. Colescott concerning klan membership at nearby East Point, Ga., and obtained from him a roster and other chapter records.

Colescott denied to newsmen that parades of hooded knights and burning of crosses were permitted "to intimidate or coerce anyone."

"The fiery cross is a sacred thing," he said "It symbolizes the cross upon which Christ died."

He will take no action against any of his followers unless they are convicted, he said, adding "we believe in the principle that a man is innocent until proved guilty."

The indictments brought to 12 the number of men accused since the inquiry started after the whip-death of Isaac Gaston. The husky 37-year-old father of three children was found dead in a field hours after several men dragged him, protesting, from his one-chair barber shop. On a knoll near his welt-marked body police found a heavy-thonged whip.

The Atlanta Constitution said testimony before the jury "was to the effect that the floggings virtually were a part of the ritual of the East Point klan."

"One witness who had applied for (klan) membership," the Constitution said, "told of being taken on a flogging expedition before his membership had been voted on.

"He was made so ill 'spiritually and physically', he testified, by what he saw—the brutal swinging of the strap, the cringing and cries of the victim, the merciless gleams in the eyes of the beaters who took turns—that he hastened to withdraw his application and never again approached any of the floggers."

The name of Gaston, whose death started the current investigation was not mentioned in the indictments returned yesterday.

TENANTS WARNED

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Thousands of Ohio tenant farmers have neglected to comply with state law requiring land leases to be in writing, and are depending upon oral agreements for their tenancy, H. R. Moore, Ohio State University agricultural economist says.

By failing to file a written lease, tenants risk being given a three-days' notice of ejection, after which 10 days are allowed to complete the moving. All leases running over a three-year period under Ohio law must be attested and acknowledged.

"Words are not as good as bonds in agreements regarding tenancy of farm hands," Moore says. He explains that oral agreements may be sustained, but necessitate lawsuits and a loss perhaps to both parties, which he says "usually do not add to farm profits."

GETS $100 FINE

ASHLAND—A fine of $100 and costs was imposed on R. Paul Smith, 36, of Ashland, after he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated on being arraigned before Judge H. E. Culbertson in common pleas court.

After Judge Culbertson fined him, he suspended $25 of the fine.

Smith was arrected on route 42 near Ashland by Sheriff L. D. Hammond and Deputy Sheriff Earl Kaylor.

COLLECTOR PERFECT

SHEFFIELD, Mass.—(U.P.)—Clarence H. Warner probably is the nation's No. 1 tax collector. For 34 years Warner has completed his tax collections on time and turned in every cent he was ordered to collect by the town.

THERAPEUTIC THEATRE ASSISTS COUPLES THROUGH MARITAL WOES

(By Associated Press)

BEACON, N. Y.—Twenty-four husbands and wives whose marriages had begun to break up have settled their troubles with mutual profit in the theatre of the Psychodramatic institute here.

This playhouse, called the Therapeutic Theatre, the only one of its kind in America, is a new means of solving personal and social troubles. It is now three years old. The second one is at present being planned at the St. Elizabeth hospital in Washington.

Principal actors in the love problems were the husbands and wives. Assisting were a small group of men and women known as the auxiliary egos. The latter had two roles.

One: They impersonated husbands or wife, while he or she looked on from the audience. Two: They impersonated the third person in a triangle, or a mother-in-law or other disturbing personality.

All the acting was spontaneous. There were no rehearsals, no script and the participants extemporized everything as they went along.

The scenes were from the domestic disputes. They were both repeats of events that actually had happened and the same scenes as the aggrieved persons would have wished if nothing had been concealed.

In the majority of cases there were reconciliations. Some went on to divorce. But when that happened, understanding and tolerance replaced much of the usual bitterness, and martial disputes that might normally drag on for years were finished in a few weeks.

STUDENT STORE

XENIA —(AP)— A student store where boys and girls may spend monthly cash allowances as business training has been established at the Ohio Soldiers' Orphans Home here with Lyston Fultz, social science teacher, as storekeeper.

Allowances range from five cents for four-year-olds to 50 cents for older students. Although the state legislature has made available $1,500 annually to finance the plan, it is intended that the pupils earn their allowances as the system develops.

To discourage "discharges" of thase who seek to get out of working for their allowances, pupils' incomes stop automatically upon being fired

For the present the store handles only candy, soft drinks and ice cream, but later the merchandise will be increased and will include articles made by the home children.

MASONIC VISIT

WILLARD—Masons and their wives from Sandusky, Norwalk, Bellevue, Wakeman, New London and Fremont will be guests of the local chopter at a district meeting here Friday evening

A dinner to be served at 6:30 p. m. will be followed by election of officers and a program. Burleigh Cartnell of Delaware is to be the speaker for the evening program and music will be by a group of 25 women from Sandusky.

FILM DIRECTOR WOULD END USE OF ALL CREDITS

Declares Showing of So Many Names at Picture's Start Boring.

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— For 30 years now people have been wondering why all those names had to clutter up the beginning of a motion picture, and for 30 years the list of names of folks having something to do with getting the epic onto celluloid has been growing.

Here's a man, and a film man, too, who'd like to eliminate all those names.

His name is Irving Cummings and he's been around for a long time as a director. Here's how he puts it:

"Credits are an abomination. They destroy the illusion of the story that follows by telling you that so and so created the costumes and that this man directed the picture. They make audiences conscious of the mechanics.

"Furthermore, they bore millions of people. Hollywood doesn't seem to realize that most moviegoers don't give a continental who directed the film or who did this and that. The names mean absolutely nothing to them.

"Besides, if I turned out an excellent film, the other producers would make a point of finding out who directed the picture. If they went to that effort, they'd remember me longer. The same is true of every worker. If they saw some striking costumes, they'd ask who designed them."

Cummings is making a one-man campaign on the set of the picture he's making now, "Lillian Russell," to persuade the players and credit-getting technicians to forego the credits just once, as an experiment.

Latest reports were that Cummings was not getting very much co-operation.

TAKE IT EASY

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Women should "take it easy" when exercising, Dean Ernest Hermann of Boston University's Sargent College of Physical Education warns.

"The trouble today," he says, "is that all seem to do nothing in the way of exercise or else try to kill themselves They don't exercise at all, or if they do, they don't bother to warm up—they jump right into violent physical activity."

Soil Lover, Bromfield Hopes to Be Gardening When He's 95

"I hope and expect to be gardening at the age of 95," declares Author Louis Bromfield in an interview in the April issue of Good Housekeeping.

"Gentlemen With a Hoe" is the name of the article which brings the collective views of a number of American male celebrities. Among them are Bromfield, Governor George D. Aiken of Vermont; Dr. Wendell Muncie, associate professor at Johns Hopkins; Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, and Actor Alfred Lunt. All of these men would rather plant petunia seeds than swing a mashie at a golf ball or caddy.

Bromfield is described as something more than an ordinary garden-type of gardener, because of his reputation acquired through his work on his Senlis, France, garden. There he won recognition for introducing into France the American Lima bean, certain varieties of squash, the Ponderosa tomato and varieties of celery and lettuce—besides trying to cross delphinium with dahlias. For his efforts he was made a member of the Workingmen Gardeners of France.

The magazine article tells of his work and plans for Malabar farm, 12 miles southeast of Mansfield, which he hopes to make a show place through its gardens. His love of the soil, he says, is inherited from generations of men and women on both sides of his family, and he mentions the garden which he made in his boyhood at the Bromfield farm on West Fourth street road.

"For me there is no excitement on earth like growing a superb flower or vegetable from a tiny seed," he says. "No excitement like going out in the morning to see the changes that have taken place during the night; nothing like the feel of a garden after a warm shower."

The Bromfield home, incidentally, is always filled with cut flowers and growing plants, summer and winter, and sometimes the author arranges bouquets of boughs and branches that reach from tall vases almost to the ceiling.

"I think a good gardener suffers with his plants," he says. "He's made a little ill when a plant turns yellow, withers, and dies. He'll break his back—as I've done many times—carrying pails of water up a hill to water thirsty plants, because otherwise he'll not be able to sleep when night comes."

"But the gardener at Malabar farm won't have to break his back carrying water," the article continues. "There is underground water everywhere, even in time of drought. Lucky are plants that go to root on this Ohio land. Besides having the means to keep enormous gardens, Bromfield is a thorough horticulturist. He buys seeds from all over the world and raises his own seedlings; he increases shrubs and vines by cuttings. He's featuring native material. The largest water elm in Ohio shelters one of the farm cottages. From wilder parts of the property have been brought in numerous tulip trees, dogwood, redbud, sumac, and sassafras—for floral display and brilliant color in autumn.

"Louis Bromfield admits that his gardening gets in the way of his writing constantly, and he must force himself to do two hours with a pen before indulging in six or eight hours with hoe and spade. Now, it's especially hard to stay out of the garden."

CLOTHES MODEL BAD INFLUENCE

BOSTON —(U.P.)— Ninety out of 100 women stand and walk incorrectly—and clothes models are to blame—says Miss Ruth Constance Duffey, Boston university's director of physical activities for women.

"A slinking mannequin looks like a million," Miss Duffey says, "and women try to imitate her—but from the waist down the beautiful clothes colt is askew.

"Her curves are right but her lines are wrong. And her influence on the average female's posture is to be lamented."

THEATERS

"And One Was Beautiful."

Based on one of the widely-read novels by Alice Duer Miller, "And One Was Beautiful" brings to the Ohio Friday a dramatic society melodrama in the battle of two sisters for the love of a man they both desire. One hides her own crime in his imprisonment; the other, faithful, seeks to clear him even though it means that her sister must pay the law's penalty. Elaborately staged and costumed, it presents a vivid glimpse into the 'smart set" and the workings of its social intrigues.

A powerful drama of life in a North Woods lumber camp is showing Friday at the Madison theater. John Payne and Gloria Dickson are co-starred in this story of the fight for timber, of the jealousies and hi-jinks of the lumbercamps and of the girl who managed to find her way through all of this. The film company spent more than a month on location in the virgin timberland of southern Oregon and utilized the beauty and rugged grandeur of the North Woods.

Northwesterners.

Two thrillers may be seen at the Ritz theater Friday and Saturday. They are "Man From Montreal," starring Richard Arlen and Andy Devine, and Jack Randall in "Gun Packer." In the latter picture a law officer turns bad man to solve a mystery. The story concerns the mystery of the Sierra Stage robberies and the problem of what happens to the gold that is taken from the stages. Jack is detailed to get the gang and is given his father's guns to go after the man who killed him.

Courageous Duties.

Unique in theme and based upon actual incidents in the history of the United States Coast Guard the new picture showing at the Park theater Friday and Saturday stars Randolph Scott, Frances Dee and Ralph Bellamy. "Coast Guard" is a story dedicated to courageous men who have risked their lives in the pursuance of duty. Johnny Mack Brown in "Oklahoma Frontier" presents the second feature. The plot dramatizes the American pioneers who staked their fortunes in a race for new homes during the historic Oklahoma land rush of 1893.

Dr. Christian Series.

Based on the widely popular "Doctor Christian" radio serial, this picture of the same name, which is showing at the Majestic theater Friday and Saturday, is a human story of a small town physician who dedicates his life to the welfare of his friends and neighbors. Jean Hersholt plays the title role, assisted by Dorothy Lovett, Robert Baldwin, Marcia Mae Jones and Jackie Moran. The co-feature is Gene Autry in "Mountain Rhythm" with Smiley Burnette.
